FOREWORD

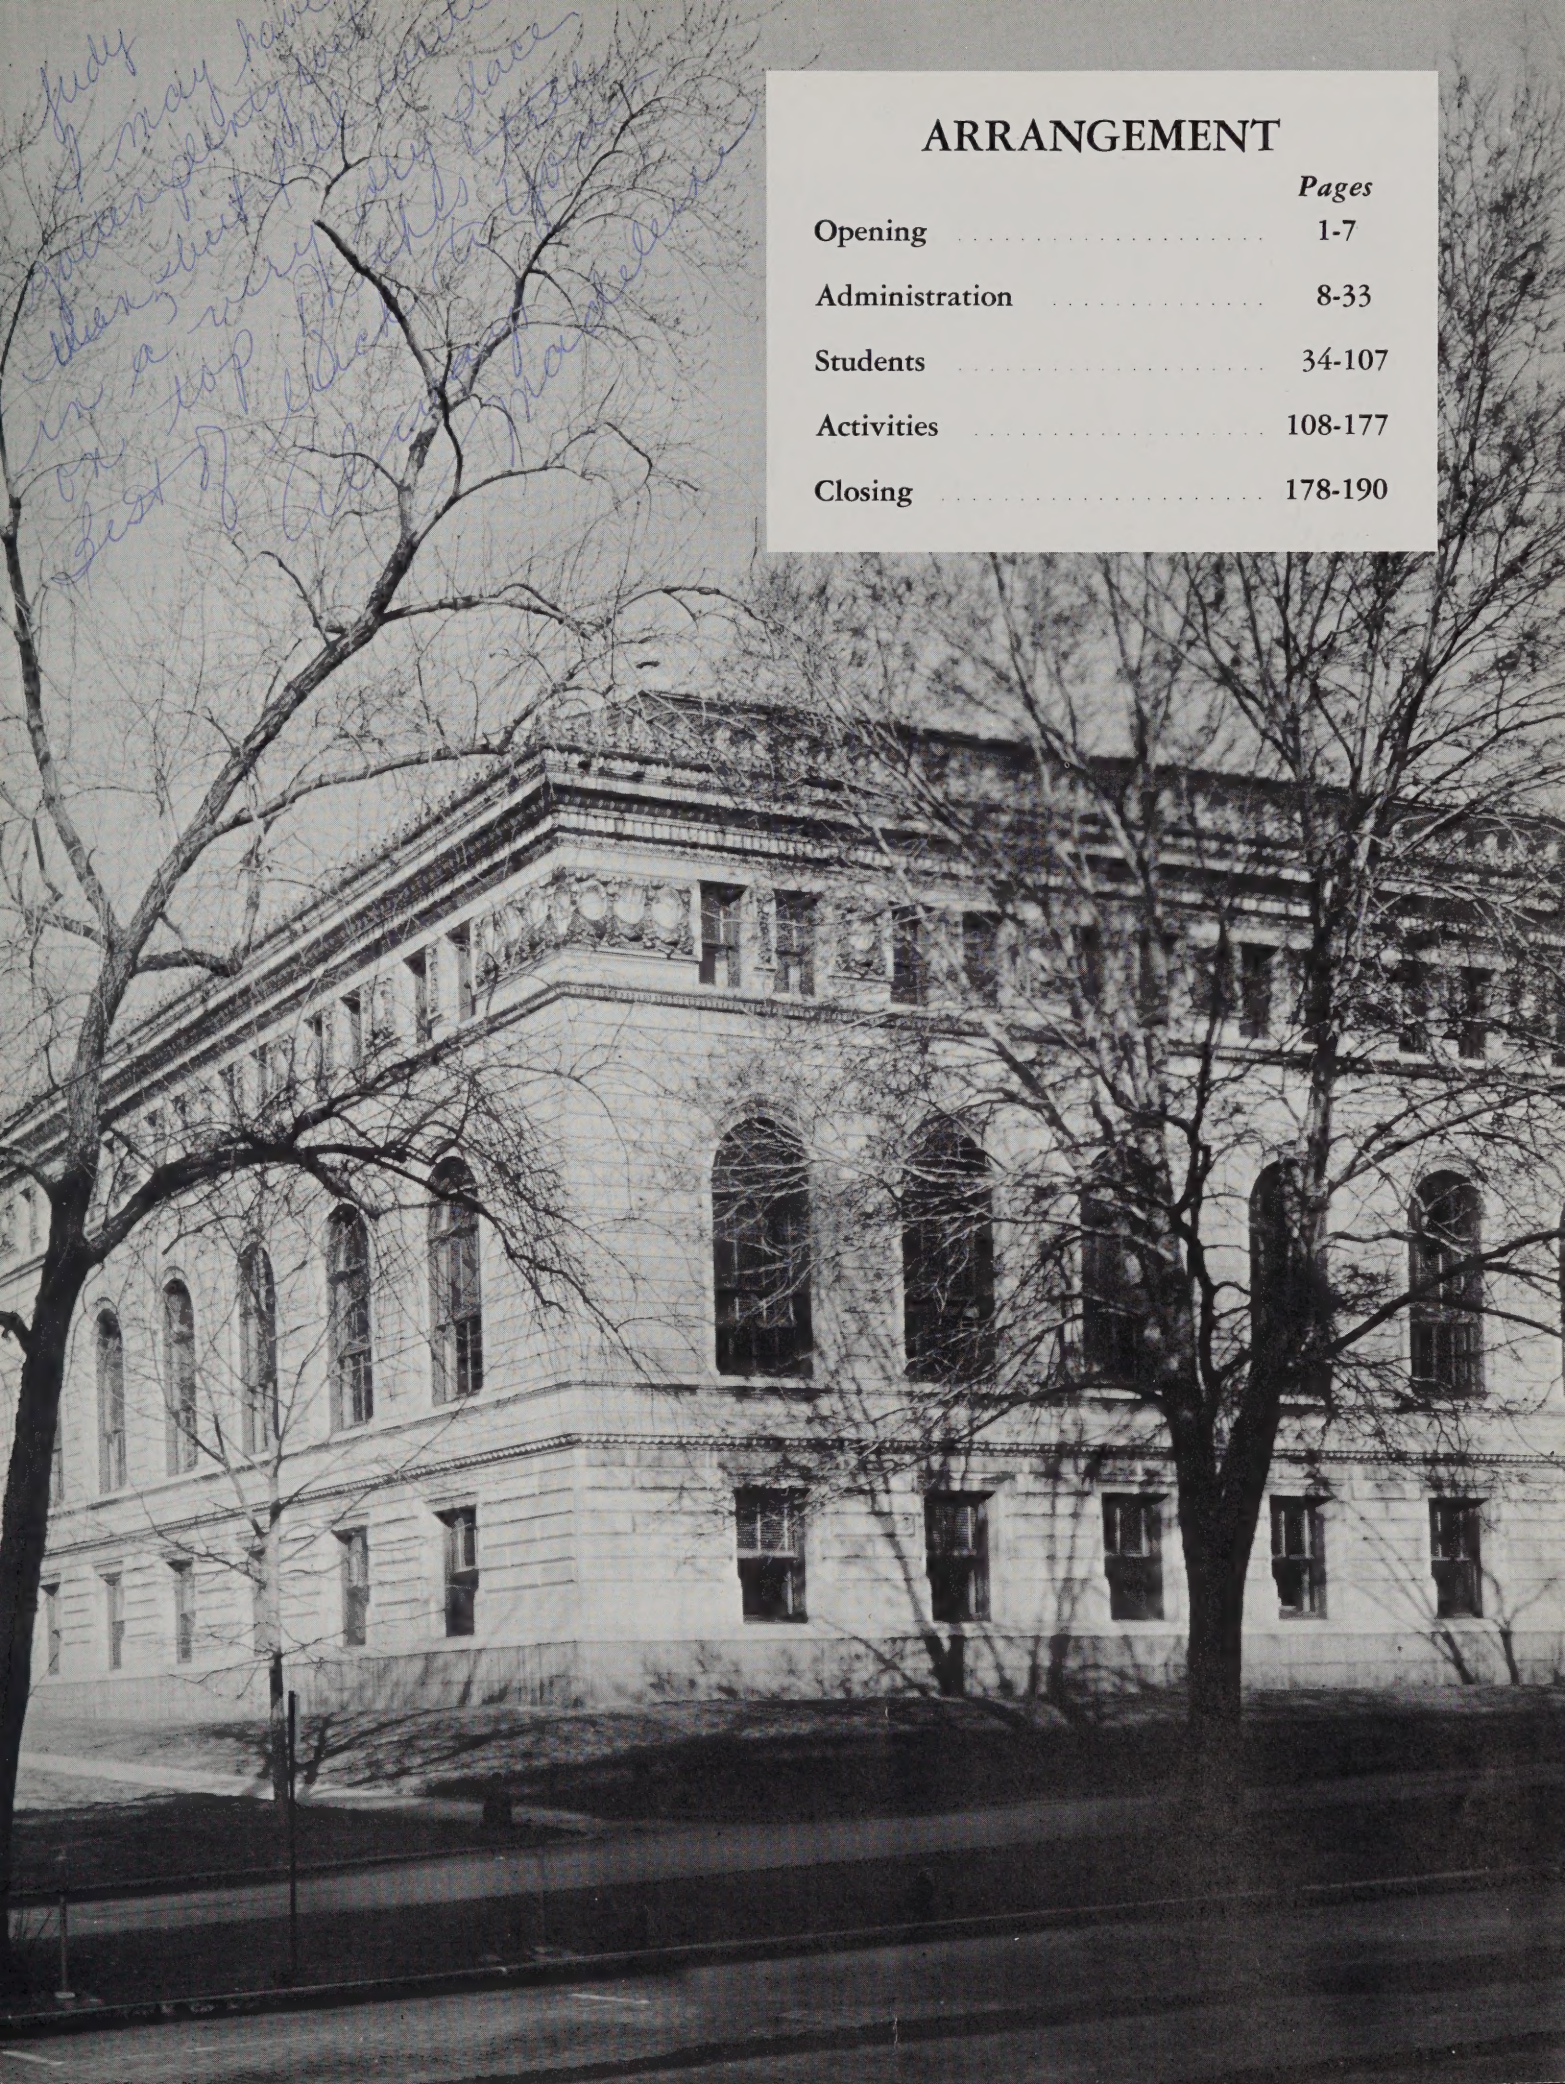

The late President John F. Kennedy once said that the progress of a nation may be no swifter than the progress of education. During the year 1965 the students of Classical High School have demonstrated through their unusual record of achievement, that they are indeed equal to the task of handling the added responsibility of this great society of ours. This record of achievement has been not only in the academic field but also in extra-curricular activity. It is for this reason that we have chosen PROGRESS as the theme of the 1965 edition of the Blue and White.

The awarding of honors to worthy students in recognition of outstanding achievement has always been a fundamental part of the educational system at Classical. Many students have been called to the Classical stage to receive recognition for excellence in creative writing, the humanities, or the sciences. An outstanding highlight of this year was the notification that four Classical students had attained semi-finalist standing on the National Merit Scholarship Qualifying Test and that forty-two other students would be recipients of Letters of Commendation; all four semi-finalists went on to achieve finalist standing. For the second year in a row the Classical "As Schools Match Wits" team was undefeated and went on to represent Classical in the playoffs during the spring.

Administrators at Classical High School have long realized that a strong athletic program is essential to sound, progressive education. 1965 has indeed been a "red letter" year for sports at Classical. The football squad, undefeated for the first time in the history of Classical High School, was presented with jackets at a special assembly held in recognition of their outstanding record. Not to be outdone, our fine soccer team brought honor and praise to its school as well as itself by winning the city championship. During the winter sports season the hockey team repeated its past performance by achieving the Wright Division Championship; the basketball team as well as the hockey team went on to represent Classical in tournament playoffs.

Throughout the 1965 edition of the Blue and White we have attempted not only to capture some of the highlights of an unusually successful year but also to explore some of the reasons for this success. The crowd scene on the end sheets of the book quite aptly illustrates the zealous enthusiasm with which the student body has reacted to both academic and athletic achievement. The Christmas scene preceeding the activities section demonstrates the interest Classical students have in community affairs. The Christopher Columbus monument pictured on the division page of the administration section is especially appropriate, for, like Columbus, the members of our faculty open new and exciting horizons to be explored by "inquiring, intelligent minds." Students at Classical have, in their own small way, endeavored to fulfill the late President John F. Kennedy's ideal of a new frontier that has its foundation in sound, progressive education; it is our hope in using the picture of the Kennedy memorial on the student division page, that Classical students might further pursue that course charted through the new frontier to its ultimate goal, the great society.

MISS MILDRED G. AUGER

The retirement of Miss Mildred Auger last year brought to a close her long career of dedicated service to young people. Any student who had the good fortune of being in one of Miss Auger's French or Spanish classes will always gratefully appreciate her wit, her thoroughness, and her keen knowledge of French and Spanish. She was always willing to listen to her students' problems. They, in turn, found her advice and counsel most helpful.

Miss Auger received degrees from Mount Holyoke College and Boston University. Her keen desire to continue to learn prompted her to study further at Middlebury Language School in Vermont, McGill University Grenoble, and The Sorbonne in France. Miss Auger's wide variety of hobbies, ranging from golf to auto mechanics, are making her retirement an active and happy one.

DR. WILLIAM C. HILL

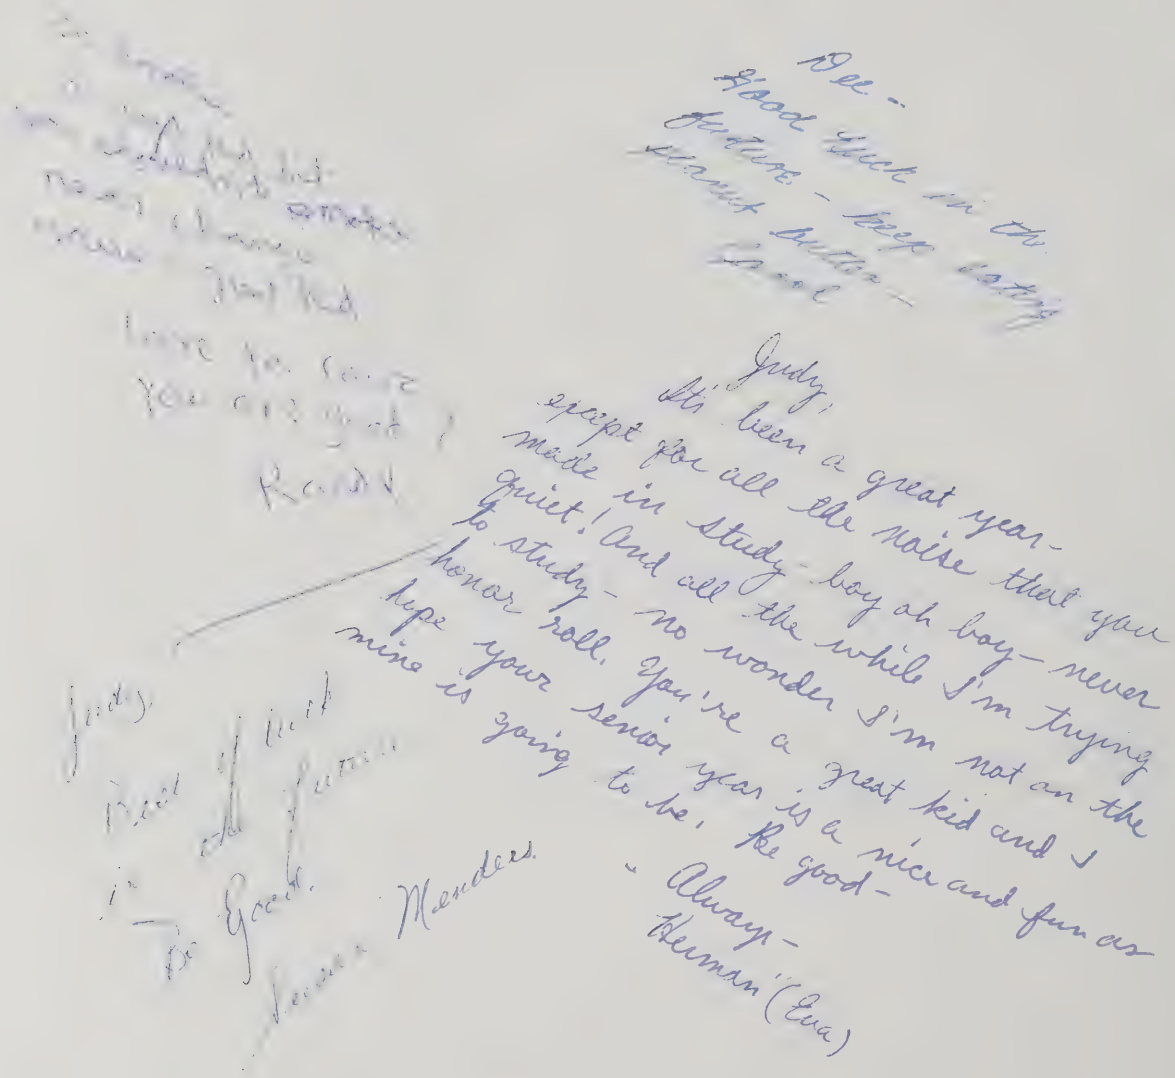

When Dr. William C. Hill died last May at the age of 90, the educational profession lost a great scholar and administrator, and every student who had ever been associated with him lost a cherished friend.

During the thirty-five year period when Dr. Hill was principal, Central High School, as Classical was then known, developed into one of the finest institutions of secondary education in the country.

Dr. Hill expanded the Parent-Teacher Association to the Parent-Teacher-Student Association because he felt that it was important for the students to take an active part in this program. He employed the first guidance counselor in the Springfield school system. He was influential in establishing Student Government. The appreciation of music was heightened through courses instituted by him. In order to give due credit to superior students, Dr. Hill established the first honor roll at Classical — Summa Cum Laude, Magna Cum Laude, and Cum Laude.

All of his former students recall his understanding, his scholarship, and his deep interest in young people. In many ways Dr. Hill's influence is still felt around Classical today. Many years from now alumni will still remember Dr. Hill's favorite quotation from Immanuel Kant.

CHRISTOPHER COLUMBUS MONUMENT

The Christopher Columbus monument on the triangle at Main and Locust Streets, was dedicated October 12, 1963, to commemorate Columbus' discovery of the New World, and to honor Italian-American war veterans killed in action during World War II, and the Korean conflict. The statue portraying the famous explorer with his sextant and maps is chiseled in granite, and bears the official seal of Italian-American War Veterans. Constructed through the efforts of the United Italian-American societies and clubs of greater Springfield, the statue will long stand as a reminder of this courageous man. Robert Achin is putting the final touches on his water color reproduction of the monument.

The administration at Classical

MR. RAYMOND MONTAGNA, PRINCIPAL

From his speeches at the many assemblies which he addresses, students of Classical may easily observe that our principal, Mr. Raymond Montagna, is extremely proud of the many achievements of Classical during this school year. As the chief administrator of Classical for the past four years, Mr. Montagna has upheld the fine tradition of scholarship for which Classical is so well known. However, many new honors, both academic and athletic, have been bestowed upon Classical this year. Mr. Montagna feels that all members of the Classical community, both the students and the administration, should possess a sense of pride when they consider all that they have accomplished by hard work and cooperation. Our principal sincerely hopes that Classical will continue its fine work and maintain those honors which have made this such a "great year."

encourages progressive achievement.

MR. RUSSELL PETERSON, ASSISTANT PRINCIPAL

Mr. Russell Peterson has served Classical as assistant principal for two years. In addition to his many administrative duties which consist of changing students' programs, supervising in the cafeteria at lunch time, and taking charge of detention, he is always willing to help students who desire advice and assistance, as does Perry Gotsis. Students who have had occasion to speak with Mr. Peterson have found him most helpful and friendly. Mr. Peterson is also coördinator of the P.T.S.A. and conducts the annual membership drive of the organization.

Counselor guide students in achieving

On entering Classical High School, each student is assigned to a counselor who assists him in shaping his plans for the future. By numerous test scores, these guidance counselors are able to determine each student's strongest and weakest points. Mrs. Margaret Ramos, counselor to the class of '67, offers her advice to freshman Gwendolyn Jacobs. Mrs. Ramos is also adviser to the Future Nurses Club.

Mr. Arthur Comeau, counselor to the juniors, feels that the ability to deal with choices of colleges is improving each year because colleges are revealing their profiles to the guidance counselors. These profiles tell the percentage of students accepted each year. In this picture, Mr. Comeau is discussing with Dennis Guerri the profile of a college in which Dennis is interested.

Miss Mary Corcoran is kept quite busy throughout the year conferring with parents, teachers, and with admissions officers, whom she visits during vacations as well as by telephone. By using the teacher's rating cards she prepares transcripts and recommendations. Miss Corcoran is handing Linda Carlson a pamphlet about a college in which Linda is interested.

a promising future.

Mrs. Rose Burns, a Mercy Hospital graduate, serves both the Classical senior and junior high schools. Her kind attention and advice have helped many students with their health problems throughout the years.

By use of a health chart Mr. John Shea gives his students advice. He helps students prepare for active participation in whatever life work they may choose to follow.

The guidance counselors encourage all students to investigate colleges by means of catalogues and college conferences. At this college conference, Mr. Rae Malcolm of Western New England College is giving general information to students Lionel Hamel, George Christy, Edward Gray, Richard Januska, Timothy Meaney, Elliot Levin, Harry Hersh, Howard Libowitz, Anthony Siana, and Richard Yemenijian.

Classical is fortunate to have such a

The two secretaries by the window in the outer office are Mrs. Garvey and Mrs. Sheehan. Our photographer caught them in one of those rare moments when they had time to confer with one another. These two secretaries it is safe to say see in the course of a day more teachers, students, visitors and school personnel than any other two people in school.

Too often, the important role of the Classical High School secretaries is taken for granted by many. However, the combined talents of Mrs. Garvey, Mrs. Sheehan, Mrs. Cowan, and Mrs. Basile are an essential part of the daily routine of Classical. Mrs. Catherine Garvey is personal secretary to Mr. Montagna. She also helps to keep a student's record that will follow him to college, and assists Mrs. Cowan and Mrs. Basile with the numerous high school transcripts which are requested each year. One of the most popular people in the lunchroom each Tuesday is Mrs. Mary Sheehan, who can be found surrounded by students waiting to buy bus tickets. Each fall, Mrs. Sheehan issues bus badges to students. She also has charge of recording school attendance.

Two very popular persons at Classical are Mrs. Barbara Cowan, senior secretary and Mrs. Lillian Topodas. In the fall and spring of each year, Mrs. Cowan's office is swarming with anxious seniors requesting transcripts. She also checks book orders and supply requisitions. Mrs. Lillian Topodas has the important job of arranging college conferences. She also does secretarial work for the counselors and helps in preparing transcripts for college. Regretfully, Mrs. Topodas left Classical for a new position this past year.

progressive secretarial staff.

Mrs. Mary Basile replaced Mrs. Topodas as secretary in the counseling office. Mrs. Basile is not a stranger in the school because she is an alumna of Classical. She has four children, one of whom is a junior here. Mrs. Basile also enjoys bowling. It is to Mrs. Basile that we owe the survey on page 106.

Mrs. Madeline Fernands served as a substitute for only a short time. However, she accomplished much to help the faculty and students of Classical. Mrs. Fernands prepared many transcripts for students, plus the other duties required of the regular secretaries.

Only one of the many duties of the Girl's Patrol is helping out in the counseling office. The girls must have telephone technique and be general receptionists for the office. Their jobs include filing program cards and program changes, college bulletins and catalogues, and career information. They are kept busy delivering passes for the counselors and doing other errands that might help them. The girls also are responsible for keeping up the attractive bulletin boards in the counseling office on careers, scholarship information, and colleges outside New England. Here Christine Ziter works on a list of catalogues before a map showing the distribution of former Classical students among the colleges and universities.

Progress depends upon learning

At the fiftieth reunion of the class of 1914, a most welcome gift of two-hundred and fifty dollars was voted for the library. With this money a bookcase, book rack, and a number of books were purchased in memory of Dr. William C. Hill. Here, the new cases are being filled by Roberta Finson, Sheila Ford, Donna Hutcheons, Leslie Nuger, Lois Cohen, Barbara Sagan, Olga Stefanyszn, and Helena Leczycki.

Miss Brown's duties do not begin in September and end in June. She usually returns during the summer months to complete the many tasks, which are the same as those which go on in the public library except on a smaller scale. They keep the library on a smooth-running basis for students and teachers. She depends on aides Roberta Fountain, Jane Ezrin, Nona Markowitz, Lillian Mann, Steven Block, Linda Carlson and Nancy Findlater to help her in these jobs.

Under the guiding hand of Miss Brown, the Classical library has become one of the finest in the area. In the past five years, the number of volumes has increased from 1,630 in 1959, to approximately 6,500 at the beginning of the 1964 school year. Besides the great number of books, our library also has a great many magazines including several foreign language periodicals. Here Karen Omar, Margaret Fiorentino, Susan Levine, Sandra Spector, Donna Zucchi and Amy Michelman are helping Miss Brown check in recent magazines and file catalogue cards.

basic skills.

Miss Dorothy Porter teaches typing which is very helpful and useful to the college bound students of Classical. Very often she gives before school assistance in typing to students like Thomasina Ferguson. In addition, Miss Porter spends many long hours on her job as business manager for Blue and White.

Miss Barbara Scannell, a visiting teacher at Classical and Technical High Schools and Mount Holyoke College, conducts classes in Reading Efficiency. Miss Scannell aids many students such as Patricia Hogan, Daniel Gadreau, and Sandra Sawyer in improving their reading skills.

English is a many

At a department meeting are English teachers: Mr. Black, Mrs. Erard, Miss Mills, Mr. Pervonga, Miss Sauer, Mr. Tenczar, Miss Dickerman, Mr. Courtney, Miss King, Mr. Donnelly, Mrs. Morrill, and Mr. Girr.

The English Department of Classical is indeed fortunate to have such a fine group of teachers.

Besides instructing regular English classes and a journalism class, Mr. Black also teaches a course in first and second year Russian, which is a relatively new subject offered to high school students. He is also adviser to our school newspaper, Recorder. Outside of school, Mr. Black enjoys reading, classical recordings, and swimming.

Mrs. Mary Erard is completing her first year at Classical. Her students participate in oral discussions and debates. Greek and Norse mythology becomes more real by acting these scenes out in her classroom. Mrs. Erard is adviser to the International Relations Club and the freshman class.

Each year, Classical eagerly awaits the publication of the Scribe, the literary magazine, by Miss Virginia Mills' honors English class. Miss Mills believes that literature is an essential part of her student's development. Outside of school, Miss Mills enjoys photography and plays.

Mr. Richard Pervonga is completing his second year at Classical. This year he devoted a great deal of his time to the successful production of "Carousel."

The adviser to Pierides, Miss Christine Sauer is an alumna of Classical. Besides teaching English, Miss Sauer instructs reading efficiency and vocabulary building courses, which are excellent aids to the college-bound students. In her leisure, Miss Sauer enjoys many interesting hobbies, including knitting, rug hooking, and crewel embroidery.

Mr. Lewis Tenczar is completing his second year at Classical. Mr. Tenczar's duties at Classical include being an adviser to the International Relations Club and to the Senate.

Miss Dickerman is chairman of our excellent English department. She devotes much of her time to the Girls' Patrol. Also, she conducts the 12s English class, and a speech class. In her leisure, Miss Dickerman enjoys reading and attending plays.

Another teacher completing his second year at Classical, is Mr. Joseph Courtney. Mr. Courtney is an adviser to the senior class and to the Senate, besides being business staff adviser of the Recorder.

Miss Almeda King is on the advisory board of the Student Government. Miss King has many interesting outside activities that include tennis, sports cars, reading, and both classical and folk music. She also keeps busy training her German Shepherd dog.

This past year, Mr. Bernard Donnelly's junior English class put on a most interesting assembly about choral reading. This was a new and informative experience for many students. Mr. Donnelly guides students in the art of acting in his dramatics class, which presents a play each year. He is also an adviser to the freshman class. Mr. Donnelly's main outside interests are reading, traveling, and gardening.

Students who leave Mrs. Mabel Morrill's English and creative writing class, no doubt depart with a deeper appreciation of literature and the English language. They also remember Mrs. Morrill's wonderful sense of humor that makes attending her classes an enjoyment. Mrs. Morrill is the adviser to the Student Handbook.

This year the school lacked the cultural experience provided in "Girr's Gallery," which was inspired by Mr. Girr's interest in oil painting. Mr. Girr also enjoys woodworking. He is junior class adviser and is in charge of books for the English department.

splendored thing.

In Miss Dickerman's speech class, Robert Findlater listens to a formal introduction by Janis Harmon, and Tim Meany records it.

The speech classes at Classical give students an excellent opportunity to learn the techniques of speaking before audiences. Among the classes' activities are holding panel discussions and debates, and presenting and recording speeches by the students. The recording enables the student to listen to his talk and hear his mistakes, if any.

Each year the dramatics class presents a play for the school. In May of 1964, the class presented to the public George Kaufman's and Moss Hart's Broadway comedy hit, "The Man Who Came to Dinner." The purpose of the production was chiefly for education and experience, although tickets were sold to cover overhead costs. The comedy starred Bonnie Burrell, Alex Miranoff, and Evelyn Bernstein, and Classical seniors Lenny Alexander, Tino Galuzzo, and Steve Block.

Peforming in "The Man Who Came to Dinner" are Alex Miranoff and Evelyn Bernstein.

"Possunt quia posse videntur."

The language faculty extends a knowledge of foreign languages to our students: (seated) Miss Irene Meunier, Dr. Edna Frederick, Mr. Raymond Lussier, Mrs. Martha Cobb, Mr. James Fleming, (standing) Miss Teresa Boylan, Dr. Phillip Miller, Mrs. Rosemary Lapertosa, Miss Elizabeth, Dean; Miss Irene Rouillard, Miss Yolanda Lopardo, and Mr. Henry Black.

Miss Irene Meunier has had much experience in teaching French, since she taught the language before coming to Classical. Miss Meunier handles all publicity for the school.

The chairman of our language department, Dr. Edna Frederick, instructs regular French classes plus French 3s and 4s. She is also adviser to the William C. Hill chapter of the National Honor Society. Dr. Frederick is in charge of the language laboratory, and she duplicates many tapes to make them available for other classes.

Mr. Raymond Lussier, who teaches both Latin and French, had the opportunity to study in France this past summer. Mr. Lussier also supervises the stage crew and helps with the management of the United Fund at Classical.

Having traveled and studied in Mexico, Mrs. Martha Cobb adds much first-hand information to class discussions on that country. She also instructs a French class and advises the Spanish Club.

Mr. James Fleming is the only fourth year Latin teacher at Classical. His tremendous background gives all his students a vivid picture of the Roman civilization. Mr. Fleming is adviser to the Latin Club.

Students in any of Miss Teresa Boylan's classes are very aware of the cultural heritage and the customs of Spanish-American countries. Miss Boylan can bring interesting personal experience to her classroom because of her many trips to Mexico, to South America, and during this past summer, to Portugal, and other parts of Europe. Besides teaching English along with Spanish, Miss Boylan is co-ordinator of the Blue and White, and is continually urging her students to remember deadlines.

Dr. Phillip Miller, who last summer studied in France under a special fellowship, has a deep knowledge and interest in the Hebrew language and culture. His courses in Hebrew are stimulating because of his extensive background in Hebrew culture. Dr. Miller also teaches French and advises the Hebrew Club.

Mrs. Rosemary Lapertosa, German teacher, traveled quite a distance to reach Classical since she came from Harvey, Illinois. Because of the new oral approach to the German language, Mrs. Lapertosa believes that students are able to speak German better. Mrs. Lapertosa enriches both her own classes and the German Club with current periodical literature from Germany.

A student of Miss Elizabeth Dean's will always remember her reprimanding "tut, tut!" and her daily quizzes that keep everyone on his toes. In addition to teaching the first three years of antiquae linguae Latinae she serves as the treasurer of the Student Treasury.

Miss Irene Rouillard, who is adviser to the French Affiliations Club and to the junior class, contributes knowledge gained by studying abroad to her classes. Miss Rouillard enjoys gardening and semi-classical music.

Miss Yolanda Lopardo is enjoying her first year of teaching in high school and at Classical. She finds the students both cooperative and serious about their work and studies. This year she was in charge of costumes for Carousel and has been a junior class adviser.

"They can because they think they can."

Learning the folk songs is part of the fun in language classes. Tino Galluzzo and Rebecca Hartshorn entertain a Spanish class with a rendition of "La Cucaracha."

Acquaintance with culture as well as the langauge is an essential part of the language course. Linda Carlson and Paula Kosik are examining a Costa Rican "carreta."

Around the world

The members of the social studies department are Miss Morris, Mrs. Bowen, Mr. Bresnahan, Mr. Young, Mr. Corbin, and Dr. Boyle.

The many problems of our changing world make it necessary to have a knowledge not only of our own country but also of other nations. Our Social Studies Department, through its courses of American History, American Government, World History, European History, Ancient History, Economics, and Problems of Democracy, acquaints the student with the world of yesterday, today, and tomorrow.

Mr. William Young, chairman of the Social Studies Department, who is also assistant curator at the Museum of Natural History, finds that he is able to incorporate his first-hand anthropological information in his ancient history courses. His interest in anthropology has taken him on expeditions, on which he has found many fossils. Mr. Young is also coach for the varsity baseball team.

Mr. Daniel Bresnahan, adviser to the Boys' Patrol, feels that progress is the changing attitude of young people as they become more conscious of the human feeling of brotherhood. During the last half of this school year, he went to Columbia University to continue his studies for his doctorate in administration.

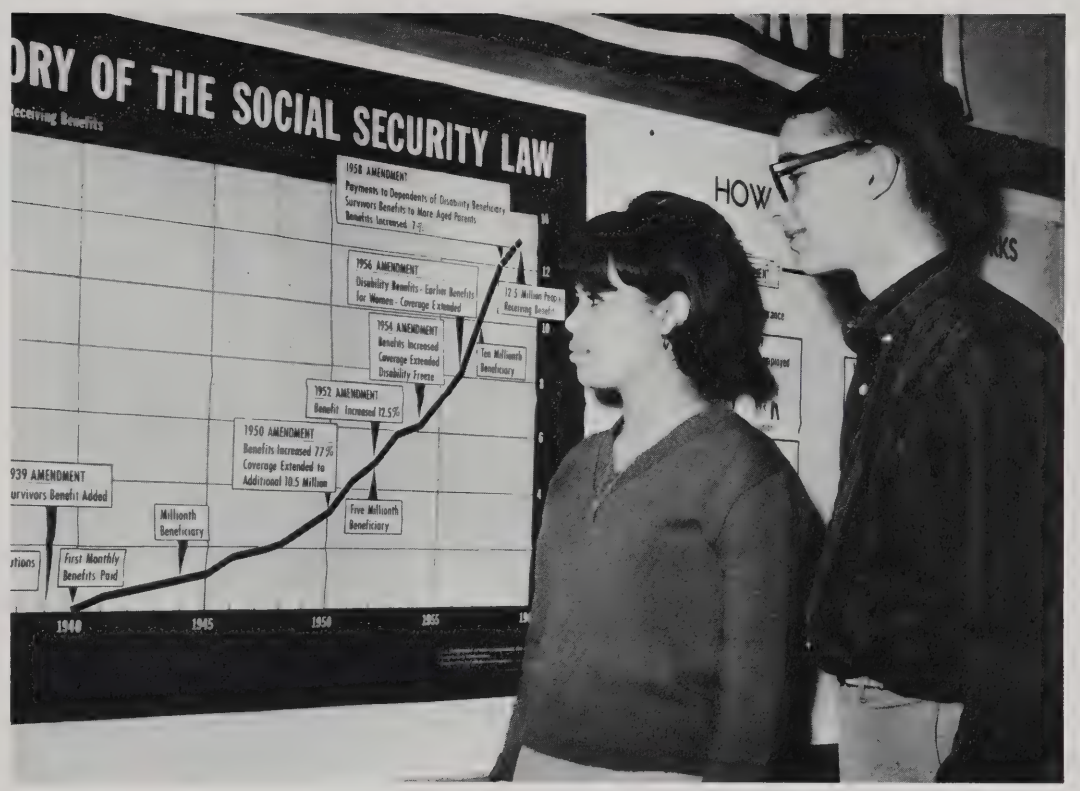

Mrs. Barbara Bowen spends a great deal of her time with Student Government, advising them at their weekly meetings. As an economics teacher she carries on special outside activities which bring her students in direct contact with the economic situation about which they study. Mrs. Bowen also teaches American history.

Miss Mary Morris, who teaches American and World history, does so through the eyes of the people, and places her emphasis on people and the times rather than on events. She believes that there should be a greater stress on the nations of Asia and Africa due to the fact that many of them, as young nations, are breeding places for conflict. Miss Morris is also adviser to the Future Teachers Club.

Throughout the year Mr. Milton Corbin along with his Problems of Democracy class, carries on various projects such as clothes and food collections for the Goodwill and the Salvation Army, a carnation sale for the Urban League, a flower sale for the Clark School for the Deaf, along with other activities for the benefit of similar service organizations. Mr. Corbin, who also teaches American history and advises IRC, enjoys collecting old stamps and coins.

Dr. Thomas Boyle, in his teaching of American history and American Government, finds that he likes to approach the studies in the following three ways: (1) with the people as the main actors (what were they like as human beings), (2) the trends of the nation, and (3) original sources. He feels that these three methods of approach give the student a more realistic point of view on the events and the people of the past. Dr. Boyle is also adviser to the school store, the earnings of which he hopes to increase each year.

Economics students at Classical are concerned with current problems as well as basic principles. Marcia James and Mark Glater consider how this Social Security chart might change if the widely discussed "Medicare" bill is passed by Congress.

Once a week, Mr. Corbin's Problems of Democracy classes bring in a guest speaker. Here, Mr. Thomas Barlow, head of the Traffic Bureau, is relating the increasing importance of every day traffic safety.

The fine math teachers of Classical +

Our excellent staff of math teachers include: (seated) Mr. Wessman, Mrs. Beverley, Mr. Andrewes, Mrs. Bale, Mr. Jermakian; (standing) Mr. Laude, Mr. Pare, Mr. Szetela, and Mr. Stevens.

With the introduction of modern math, our mathematics department has been undergoing a noticeable change in the past few years. Because of advanced techniques, many of the physical sciences are expressing their ideas in the mathematical language, and in order to keep up with this modern trend, Classical is making use of teaching machines and several new text books which give a modern interpretation to mathematics.

Mr. George Andrewes is chairman of the math department. This year, in conjunction with his modern math course, he took several students to Trade School to see a new digital computer, which is presently being used in banks and other establishments. Mr. Andrewes, a graduate of Classical himself, is adviser to the Mathletes and treasurer of the Student Treasury.

Mr. Robert Wessman, who seems to know "a little bit about everything," is math teacher as well as Student Treasurer and rifle coach at Classical. Outside of school Mr. Wessman's varied hobbies include woodworking, sculpturing, and fishing.

Mrs. Julia Beverley, who is adviser to the senior class and the American Red Cross, teaches modern and traditional algebra and geometry. In her spare time Mrs. Beverley enjoys reading and traveling, her more recent travels having taken her to England and other European countries.

During the summer Mrs. Julia Bale, who has her M.A. from Columbia University, is studying for a second M.A. at the University of New Mexico. Mrs. Bale enjoys gardening, and as a result of her recent studies, she has taken an interest in Indian Culture.

Mr. Armen Jermakian, another one of our math teachers, is also bowling and golf coach. On the outside Mr. Jermakian is a golf and bowling enthusiast, as well as an avid reader.

Mr. Alfred Laude, now completing his second year at Classical, has been impressed with the unusual high caliber of the students. Mr. Laude is assistant football coach, baseball coach, and advisor to the Chess Club.

Mr. Richard Pare, also completing his second year at Classical, is, as are most of the teachers here, proud of our fine students. Mr. Pare is in charge of the stage crew, and outside of school he enjoys golf and landscaping.

Mr. Walter Szetela, another math teacher, teaches our most advanced math course, 4ss. He is one of the advisors to the senior class and is also in charge of Audio-Visual-Aids.

Besides teaching a full schedule of math courses, Mr. Robert Stevens acts as chairman of the advisers to the junior class. In his leisure Mr. Stevens is active in skiing, hiking, camping, and photography.

modern techniques = progress.

Seated at the teaching machines, Elaine Hagopian and Charles Smith are selecting answers to the problems flashed on the screen.

The Mathematics Department of Classical is presently investigating the use and effects of a new teaching machine. A reel of tape on which is recorded a course of study in a specific field is mounted on the machine. A paragraph with information is then flashed on the screen, and at the end of this paragraph, questions are asked to which the student replies by choosing one of the selector controls. If the learner makes the correct response, he is permitted to go on to the next part of the subject matter. Should an incorrect choice be made, the machine does not permit the student to continue until he has corrected his error.

For certain students who enjoy working with computers, Classical has the Minivac 6010. Once the pupil learns the basic techniques of running the computer, he is able to work out simple arithmetic and conditional problems, as well as play tic tac toe. Elaine Ciak and Adele Newman also found that they were able to make the machine keep time like a metronome. The Minivac 6010 has been a source of intellectual recreation for many of those who have had the opportunity to use it.

The Classical Science Department provides interesting

The Science teachers seated are Mr. Stanley Mulak, Mrs. Beaulah Towne, Mr. Francis Lamoreaux, Mr. Howard Lynch, Miss Eileen Fitzgerald, Mr. James O'Donnell, and Mr. Jerome Shea.

Mr. Stanley Mulak's Classical Activities include adviserships to the Science Club and chairman of the Science Curriculum Committee. Mr. Mulak likes to demonstrate his experiments especially with his magnetic board. In his spare time Mr. Mulak enjoys outdoor sports such as hunting and fishing.

Mrs. Beulah Towne, a gardening and camping enthusiast, enjoys teaching chemistry to her interested students. Formerly an employee of Squibb Company, Mrs. Towne has also taught in New York.

An avid archery fan, Mr. Francis Lamoreaux delights in teaching the phenomena of chemistry to his eager students. Another activity of Mr. Lamoreaux is the distribution of locker keys and the aiding of "confused freshmen" in learning how to operate their new lockers.

Chairman of the Science Department, Mr. Howard Lynch enjoys listening to music and camping outdoors. Mr. Lynch also does many experiments to prove physics facts to his students. Mr. Lynch adds interest to his classes by use of his humorous anecdotes.

A poetry and literature enthusiast, Miss Eileen Fitzgerald likes teaching very much. She finds her students "very responsive" and she thinks that their "interest in science is rapidly growing." Our only physiology teacher, Miss Fitzgerald also teaches biology.

Mr. James O'Donnell, adviser of the Biology Club, teaches a math course this year in addition to his regular biology and B.S.C.S. classes. Students find his friendly manner a perfect atmosphere in which to take notes and tests. In his spare time, Mr. O'Donnell likes reading, swimming, and gardening.

Mr. Jerome Shea, a new member of Classical's Science Department, formerly taught in Belchertown. Commenting on the atmosphere of Classical, Mr. Shea said that he is impressed by the "businesslike attitude" of the "normal healthy teenagers in the school." Outside of school, Mr. Shea enjoys collecting rocks.

Miss Lois Curtis, an avid bridge fan, also enjoys handicrafts, cooking, and metal working. Miss Curtis, who is Chairman of the United Fund, likes to teach her classes in lecture form.

classes for students with inquiring minds.

What seems to be frightening Mr. Howard Lynch, our humorous science teacher? If you are a student in one of his exciting physics classes, the answer should be easy. It's the Van de Graff Generator. This exciting piece of physics apparatus, which was originally designed as an Atom smasher, was invented at M.I.T. The mystery is how does this machine work? When a person puts both his hands on the top of the large metal sphere, the machine then is turned on by a switch on the control panel, the generator is then set in motion. The high voltage, created by the spinning of a rubber band belt, makes one's hair fly about.

The fresh water fish enclosed in the glass tank seem to be attracting the attentions of students Mark Rosenfield and Mark Kelberman. For a deeper understanding, biology teachers use not only charts and diagrams but also living specimens.

Our new chemistry lab, designed by physics teacher, Mr. Stanley Mulak, was opened to students in January of this year. This beautiful laboratory has been a great aid to pupils of Mr. Francis Lamoreaux and Mrs. Beulah Towne. The plans for the modern facilities of the laboratory started sometime last year. The builders worked through the summer and fall in order to have it ready for use for at least half of the school year. The picture to the left shows Mr. Charles O'Brien busily attaching a door to one of the many new cabinets.

The members of the Theory and Harmony Class are Donald McMahn, Gary Benson, Curtis Brossmer, Mike Weiner, Gail Haggerty, Marc Soutra, Miss Yuro, and seated at the piano, Barbara Baines and Linda Cotti.

Miss Virginia Yuro is the director of all vocal music at Classical High School. The various groups which she teaches are Madrigal, The Mixed Choir, Boys' Chorus, Girls' Chorus, and theory and Harmony. Miss Yuro, a graduate of Boston University S.F.A.A. and the Hart College of Music at the University of Hartford, enjoys ice skating, sewing and reading. Here Miss Yuro is teaching her Theory and Harmony class the structure of music and how music is made.

Mr. Vincent O'Keeffe is the director of all instrumental music for both Classical Junior and Senior High. The various groups which he instructs include the band, orchestra, Brass Choir, Dance Band and Woodwind Quintet. Mr. O'Keeffe is a graduate of Boston College and Columbia University. In his spare time he enjoys racing sports cars and working with his ham radio.

Mr. O'Keeffe is shown directing the Brass Choir as they appeared on the "At Home With Kitty" show at Station WWLP.

themselves at Classical.

This summer, Classical students are being offered a rare chance to study the language and art of a foreign country. A group of fortunate students will fly to Rome, Italy with their art instructor, Mrs. Helena Laramee, her husband, and their daughter. The group will enjoy a six week study of the History of Art and beginner's Italian. Although mornings will be devoted to classwork, afternoons and evenings will be free for painting trips, hiking, tennis, swimming, shopping, or general sightseeing, with weekends highlighted by trips to Venice, Assisi and Perugia, Florence, Pompeii, Naples, and Capri.

The Classical students will be part of a large group of American high school people studying abroad. They are also the first group from Massachusetts to join the ever-enlarging enrollment of the Foreign Language League which at present has fifteen European campuses.

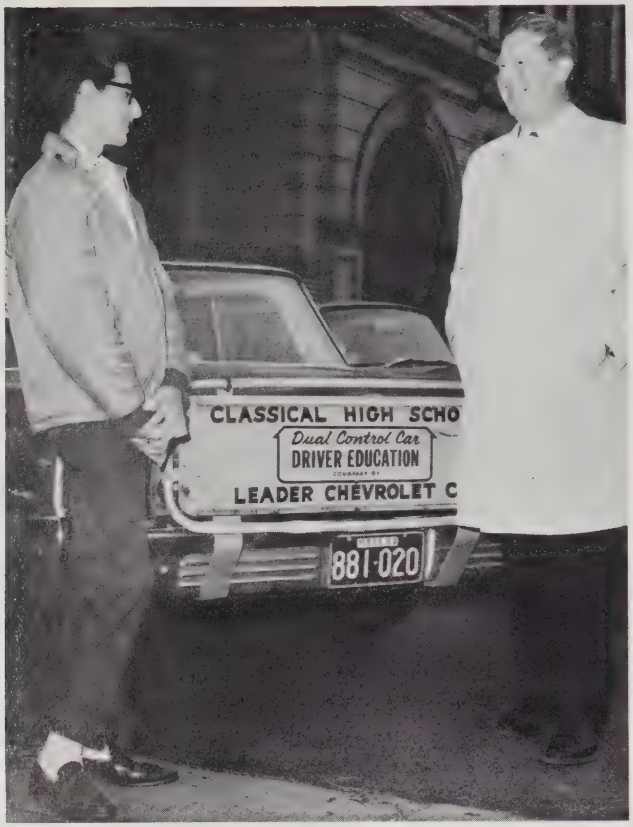

Back row, Gail Pinkerton, Marsha Ware, Marilee Marchese, Sheila Ford, Gail Madden, Elaine Cavanaugh. Seated with Mrs. Laramee, Linda Littman, Elaine Ciak.

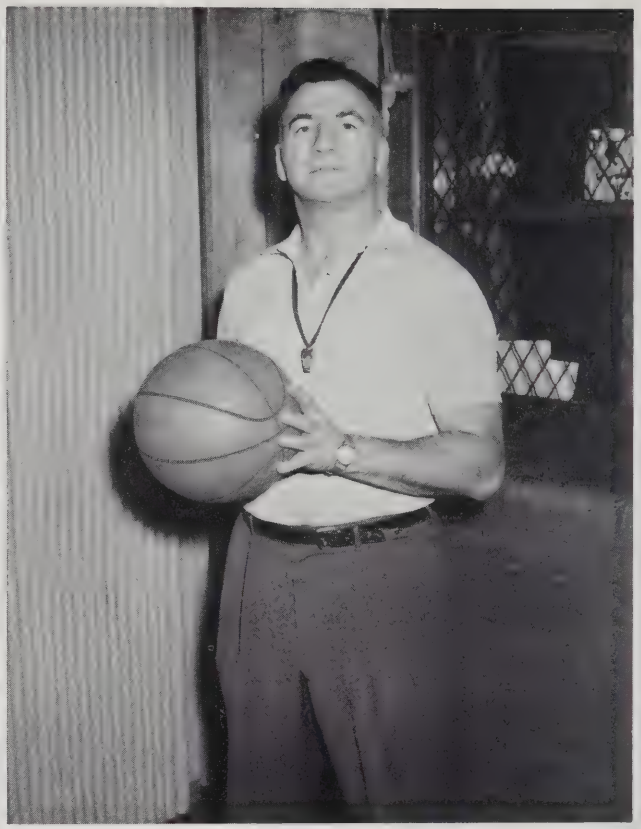

A visit to the art room will show the wealth of talent found in our school. Good examples of this talent are the watercolor painted by Robert Achin and the design for the Christmas concert program and posters in James Sadler's hand. The design was drawn by James Sadler and silk-screened by him and Walter Sagon. The watercolor is a sketch of the new Christopher Columbus statue in the South End of Springfield.

There is no better investment for the future

The drivers' education course taught by Mr. Donald Vaughan has become an indispensable part of an upperclassman's education. He trains students in the basic skills of the handling of an automobile and prepares them for a job they will be doing for the rest of their lives.

Mr. Joseph Gallant, a basketball enthusiast, demonstrates to his students the correct way of gripping a basketball for the greatest accuracy in passing and shooting. He enjoys working with the boys to help them develop basic fundamentals necessary to a good sports program.

In accordance with the physical fitness program of our country, Classical administers a series of physical fitness tests to gym students. Mr. Philip Hart is recording a student's percentile rank as compared with other students in the nation.

than physical fitness.

Miss Dorothy Mistark is enjoying her first year of teaching at Classical. She instructs the freshman girls in the fundamentals of apparatus and dancing and organizes the field hockey and basketball teams. In the evening, after her school day is ended, she likes to play bridge and to bowl. When the weather is pleasant, she goes golfing.

Miss Mistark checks Sheila Bewsee's form as she balances on the uneven parallel bars.

Mrs. Audrey Desrochers has been the chairman of the girls' physical education department for the past two years. Besides her regular gym classes, she advises girls who participate in G.A.A. activities. This year she did the choreography for several dances in Carousel. Next to taking care of her four children, she likes to cook, sew, and dance.

Mrs. Desrochers and student leader, Dell Mullens, assist Nancy Vaughn in doing a hand stand on the Swedish box.

Custodians and lunchroom workers are important people, too.

The responsibility for the upkeep and appearance of Classical High School belongs to the custodians. They perform efficiently the many duties which are necessary for the welfare of both student and teacher. Their tasks range from clearing sidewalks to carrying equipment as Jeremiah Cahill and Albert DuBois are doing in this picture.

The mad rush of hungry Classicalites in the lunchroom necessitates help in selling milk and lunches. The girls who assist Mrs. Scully, the supervisor, are Katherine Robertson, Diana Perry, Sandra Zippin, Great Gibson, Jo Ann Lussier, Dolores Bill, Christine Szczpanek, Janet Preston, Emily Witkowsky, and Linda Quintin.

Whether it is morning, noon, or afternoon, the lunchroom ladies are continuously on the job. Besides their major tasks of cooking and serving lunch to groups of students and teachers, these ladies must store away extra food and keep the kitchen tidy: Dora Rickson, Mary Cass, Mary O'Connor, Helen Valentini, Bernadette Cocchi, Pauline Roberts, Ada Reel, Josephine Sarafino, Ella Degon, and Gladys Gurka.

The students' problems are teachers' problems.

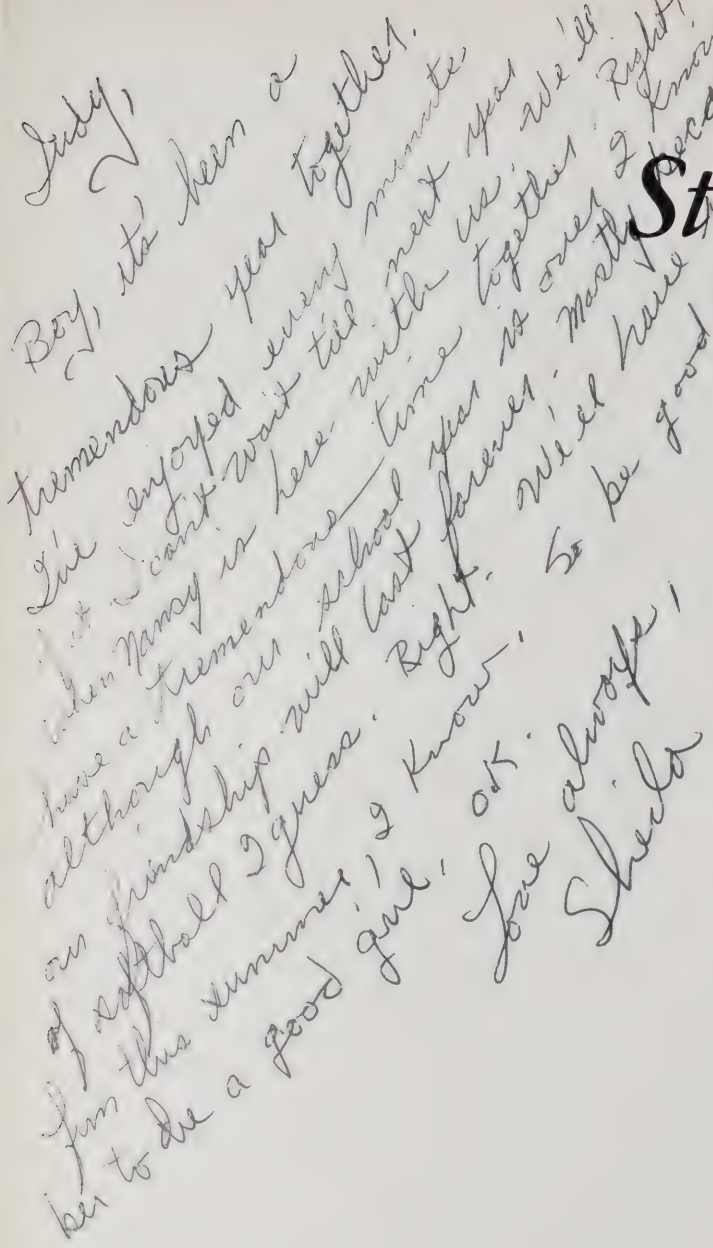

The Principal's Advisory Cabinet consists of Mr. Armen Jermakian, Mr. James O'Donnell, Mr. Raymond Montagna, Mrs. Barbara Bowen, Miss Teresa Boylan, Mrs. Martha Cobb, and Mrs. Margaret Ramos, who was busy at a college conference when this picture was taken.

The function of the Principal's Advisory Cabinet is to form policies for the welfare of the teachers, discuss problems confronting the faculty, and take measures to improve existing conditions in the school.

Is Mr. Wessman cringing or laughing about the jab which Dr. Raymond Gagnon is giving him?

JOHN F. KENNEDY MEMORIAL

Out of admiration and respect for the memory of the late John F. Kennedy, a simple, yet beautiful monument was dedicated in Springfield's Forest Park last November. A glowing amber light crowns the nine-foot aluminum shaft which is centered in a beautifully landscaped circle of shrubbery. The Memorial Eternal Light designed by Vito Caolo is representative of a similar eternal light which glows atop the late President's grave in Arlington, signifying the peace and courage which President Kennedy stood for. Throughout his thousand days in office the late President Kennedy emphasized that progress in a nation is dependent upon progress in education. The Kennedy Memorial in Springfield will remind Classical students Merilyn Smith, Leonard Talevi, Noreen Sullivan, David Tebaldi, and Virginia Therrien, of the ideals which the late President cherished for American youth.

The Class Officers and Advisers have been

Again we have watched a unique metamorphosis that transforms the fledgling to the senior sophisticate. Amid growing pressures we admire more fervently your determination to preserve virtues in a society ever less willing to defend them. In your activities and experiences you have shown skill and leadership that equips you well for greater struggles ahead. Rest not on your laurels but prevail by continuous endeavor. Live up to the ideals for which you will be remembered.

Walter Szetela

My very best wishes for a life full of good health and happiness go to the class of 1965.

I commend to you this quotation from a letter written by Lord Chesterfield to his son in 1747:

"Knowledge is a comfortable and necessary retreat and shelter for us in an advanced age; and if we do not plant it when young, it will give us no shelter when we grow old.

"In purity of character and in politeness of manners, labor to excel all if you wish to equal many."

Good luck to you all.

Julia Beverley

To the members of the Class of 1965:

Congratulations to you on the manner in which you as a class have fulfilled the tasks of high school education set for you by the expectations of your parents, your schools and yourselves.

And thanks to you for the co-operation you have shown your class advisers during the past years.

As you continue to grow "in age and grace and wisdom," may God's best blessings be yours.

Joseph P. Courtney

Memo from the desk of Miss Christine Sauer:

"And these few precepts in thy memory
See thou character":

Yesterday: "The best school in the solar system."

Today: "No one has the right to do that which if everybody did it would destroy society."

Tomorrow: "A man's reach should exceed his grasp. . ."

a symbol of teacher-student cooperation and achievement.

To spend three years at Classical High School and graduate totally unaware of its greatest asset would be a grave mistake.

Hopefully, the past three years have not been a stagnant and unproductive waiting game, but a period of accomplishment, preparations, and self-improvement. Likewise, the officers of the Class of 1965 hope that high school will be remembered as an enjoyable and gratifying experience by every graduate.

But regardless of his performance or experiences at Classical, every senior should, at least, be infinitely aware of one fact: he has been given an unparalleled opportunity to succeed by a devoted and enthusiastic faculty. Whether taken or ignored, this opportunity remains a chance of a lifetime that should not be easily forgotten.

The other officers join me in wishing every member of the Class of 1965 the best of luck for the future.

Why is Classical proud of 1965?

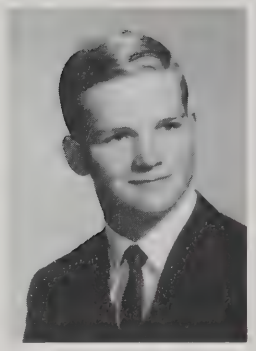

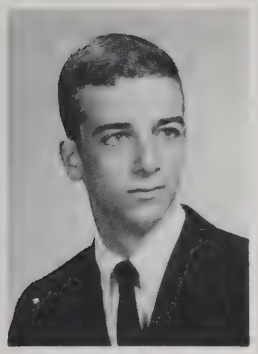

NATHANIEL AKERMAN
107 Gillette Avenue

In his freshman year Nicky was a member of the band and the Constitution Committee. For two years Nicky has been a member of the Senate and has held the offices of vice-president and secretary-treasurer. As a freshman and junior, Nicky was elected to represent Classical at the A.I.C. Model Congress and at Boys' State.

SCOTT ATWATER
203 South Branch Parkway

Scott's activities have been limited to a membership of the Ski Club because "there just wasn't time." However, he does enjoy sports, swimming in particular. Though his plans are vague now, he would like to be an engineer.

16 Powell Avenue

Junior varsity basketball and varsity baseball constitute Gary's activities at Classical. Sports seem to be his specialty as he also enjoys playing hockey. Gary intends to major in law and then work for the Federal government.

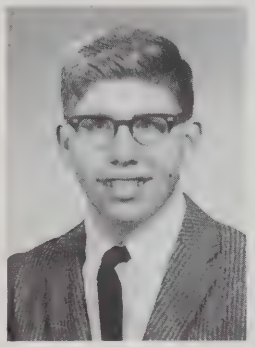

DONALD AUSTERN
130 Bremen Street

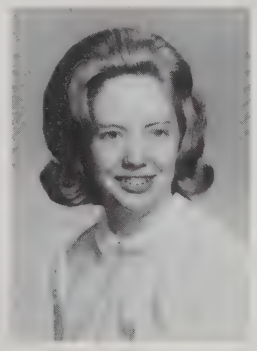

During his stay at Classical, Don has participated in the International Relations Club and the Senate. Don, who is an avid history fan, also enjoys coin collecting and politics. His main ambition is to go into law or some phase of politics.

BARRY ALEXANDER
609 White Street

Barry, a member of the Senate, likes to play basketball and football. He also enjoys fishing, swimming, drawing, and sketching. He hopes to become a pharmacist and to have his own drugstore.

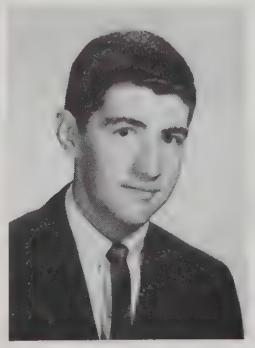

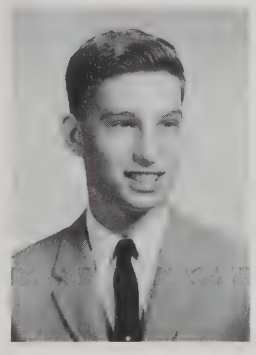

LINDA BAILEY
96 Andrew Street

Lynn has been a member of I.R.C. for two years, and a member of the Chess Club. Lynn was also a two-year member of the Blue and White staff. She enjoys reading and writing poetry, "if the fancy hits me." She would like to attend a liberal arts college.

LEONARD ALEXANDER
129 Westminster Street

At Classical, Lenny has been a member of Student Government, A.V.A., and the stage crew for Carousel. Besides having a part in Carousel, he designed a new lighting system for the stage. He is also president and drum major of the band. Lenny's plans are to major in drama.

ROBERT BARNARD
34 Meredith Street

Having an interest in science, Robert has been an active member of the Science Club. Electronics, photography, and reading are his hobbies, but the greater part of his time is spent on electronics. He plans to prepare for a profession in the field of mathematics.

ELAINE ALLEN
43 Winding Lane

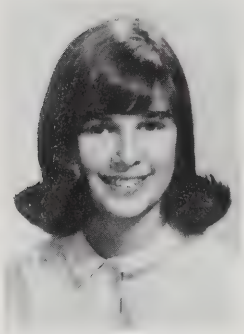

Elaine, a transfer student from South Carolina, has participated in various activities while at Classical. She has been a member of the Future Nurses Club, I.R.C., and Pierides. Elaine hopes to enter nursing school and earn her R.N.

ALAN BARR
85 Olmsted Drive

Alan was a member of the Red Cross and the Biology Club in tenth grade, and has been a member of the Art Club in eleventh and twelfth grades. Alan enjoys sports, working on cars, and playing the piano. Alan plans a career in biology or chemistry.

The Class of 1965 has made

DEBORAH BARR
425 Trafton Road

Debbie, a transfer student from Pennsylvania, has been a member of I.R.C. and Choir here at Classical. Her hobbies include writing to her pen pal in Japan and music. Debbie is also interested in modeling and enjoys singing.

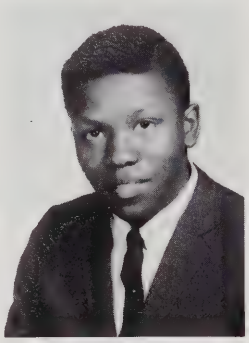

BRUCE BELL
69 Kerry Drive

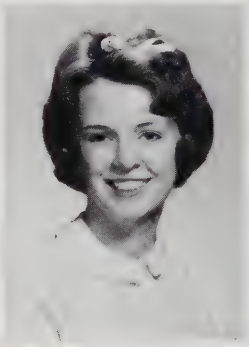

Bruce, a transfer student from another school, has found the atmosphere at Classical very stimulating. This year, Bruce has been a participant in the Senate and I.R.C. Outside of school he is active in Junior Achievement.

RUFUS BASS
50 Vine Street

Rufus, a new addition to Classical this year, has come to us from the South. He enjoys traveling, football, photography, basketball, and swimming. Besides being interested in mechanics, one of his ambitions is to go into the field of engineering.

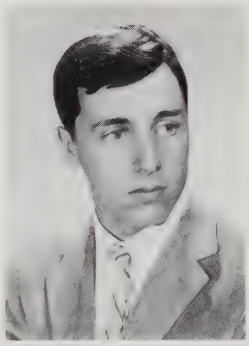

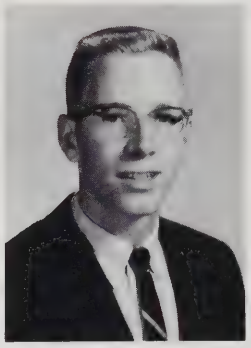

JANICE BENNETT
94 Perkins Street

Jan has been involved in Girls' Patrol, I.R.C., and the Future Teachers Club while at Classical. Cooking and knitting are ranked high on her list of hobbies. After attending a liberal arts college, Jan would like to be a teacher.

DAVID BASSANI
143 Telbar Street

For the past three years, David has participated in many of Classical's varied activities. Dave has been a member of I.R.C. and Red Cross. He was also an understudy in The Man Who Came to Dinner. He hopes to pursue a career in dentistry.

THOMAS BERARD
33 Stockman Street

Tom has been a member of the Ski Club, and the baseball team. He also was advertising manager and the sports writer for the Recorder. Tom, who is president of his post of Explorers, plans to major in forestry.

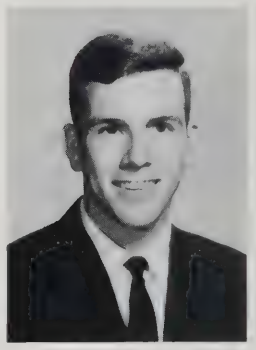

FRANCES BATTISTONI
1077 Liberty Street

During her three years at Classical, Fran has participated in I.R.C. and the Art Club. This year she is the artist for the Recorder. She also enjoys playing the piano. Fran hopes to attend a fine arts college and major in art.

HERBERT BEREZIN
133 Carver Street

Herby, an active member of the Hebrew and German Clubs, also enjoys tennis and golf. When not engaged in any of these activities, he likes to read mystery stories and listen to records. He plans to attend a liberal arts college.

SUSAN BEDNARZYK
50 Seneca Street
Indian Orchard

Junior year activities for Susan encompass I.R.C., the Drill Team, G.A.A., and Girls' Patrol. This year she was elected captain of the patrol. Susan enjoys outdoor sports and sewing. Her ambition is to teach mathematics on a secondary school level.

IDA BERMAN
32 Whittier Street

Ida was a member of G.A.A. and the French Club in tenth grade, and I.R.C. this year. She seems to be an outdoor girl as she enjoys water skiing, swimming, ice skating, and boating. Ida is uncertain about her future, but her first choice is to be a medical secretary.

ELIZABETH BERELLI
119 Audubon Street

Liz has been a member of the Future Teachers Club. She was also a member of the Girls' Patrol. Her favorite pastime is her job at an ice cream shop. In the future, Liz plans to attend college and major in elementary education.

DONALD BLAIR
162 North Brook Road

Don has served as President of the National Honor Society and captain of the Schools Match Wits Team. A member of the band, Don also plays in the Young Peoples' Symphony. He was also Editorial Editor of Recorder this year. Don plans to major in either math or linguistics.

ANDREA BERRY
1963 Parker Street

Besides being a member of Pierides and I.R.C., Andrea is the secretary-treasurer of the Latin Club. Her outside interests consist of playing the piano and reading. Andrea's graduation plans are to attend a liberal arts college and major in either languages or music.

VIRGINIA BLAIR
73 Lamont Street

Jinny, working toward the goal of becoming a home economics teacher, has belonged to the Future Teachers Club for two years. She was also a member of I.R.C. She enjoys playing tennis, cooking, reading, and listening to records. She is learning to play the guitar in her spare time!

CHRISTINE BEYETTE
182 Birchland Avenue

Christine's activities at Classical include memberships in the Art Club, Pierides, Ski Club, and I.R.C. She indulges in playing her guitar, skiing, and working at the city library in her spare time. Christine would like to attend a liberal arts college.

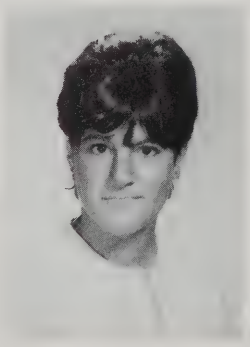

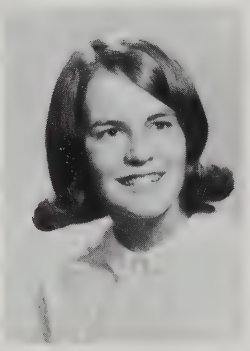

MADALYN BLAKE
173 Westbrook Drive

Madalyn, while at Classical, has been a substitute cheer leader and a student leader. She has been a two-year member of the French Club and has been serving this year as vice-president. Her college major will be either education or psychology.

ELIZABETH BICK
109 Pineywoods Avenue

While at Classical, Betsy was a member of Pierides, I.R.C., the Junior Activities Committee, and a Blue and White agent. Her main interest is creative writing, but she is also "kept busy" by playing the guitar, singing, and horseback riding. Betsy hopes to attend college with a major in English or economics.

SHIRLEY BLEAU
24 Noble Street

Shirley's major activity at Classical has been a three-year membership in Student Government, serving as Chairman of the Sunshine and Publicity Committee and Recording Secretary. She also has been a member of I.R.C. and the Ski Club.

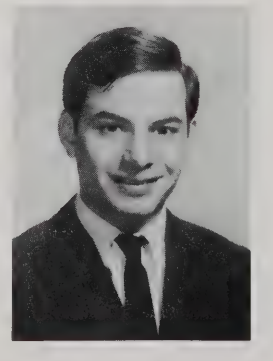

DOLORES BILL
87 Mulberry Street

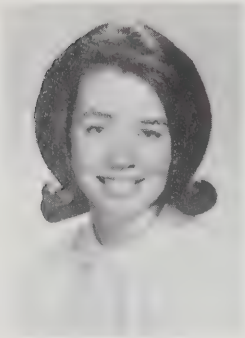

During her three years at Classical, Dolores has been a member of the French Club and I.R.C. She has also been a lunchroom cashier. She enjoys reading, horseback riding, skating, and swimming. She plans to attend college in preparation for a teaching career.

STEVEN BLOCK
50 Terrace Lane

During Steve's three years at Classical, he has been a member of the orchestra, Biology Club, and I.R.C. He has also been a library aide for three years. However, Steve's favorite activity has been dramatics. He would like to study fashion merchandising at college.

This achievement has not only been in the academic

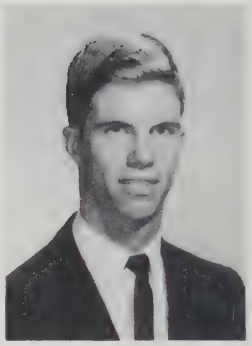

KATHLEEN BOWLER
100 Ravenwood Street

Kathy has been active in I.R.C. and the Future Teachers Club. In her spare time, she enjoys sewing and bowling. She also was life guard at her church pool. She plans to major in elementary education at college.

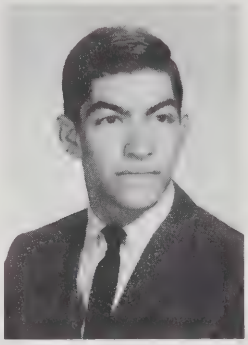

WILLIAM BRIDGMAN
111 Fenway Drive

Bill has been an essential participant on the track and swimming teams for three years. This year he was co-captain of the swimming team. In addition to that, he has been a member of the Boys' Patrol.

MICHAEL BRADDON
174 Gillette Avenue

At Classical, Mike has been a two-year member of I.R.C. He enjoys all sports, especially golf and football, and cars, preferably convertibles. Mike's ambition is to go to college and study in the field of civil engineering.

RUSSELL BRODEUR
91 Northampton Avenue

Russell, aside from his school work, enjoys tennis and reading. His major aspiration is to become a lawyer. Coinciding with this ambition, he has become a member of the Senate. His plans include a college education.

ALLEN BRAINERD
836 Wilbraham Road

Allen's activities include a position as lieutenant of Boys' Patrol, vice-president of the German Club and a member of the tennis team. He puts much of his spare time into such hobbies as sailboat racing, playing guitar, and camping. He would like to major in Russian at college.

ANN BROSKA
2210 Wilbraham Road

Ann has been a three-year member of both the Art Club and I.R.C. She enjoys such hobbies as water skiing, horseback riding, and sewing. Upon graduation, Ann would like to enter college to become an elementary school teacher.

JOANNE BREEN
44 Upton Street

Joanne has been a member of I.R.C., Future Teachers Club and the Activities Committee. Her hobbies are sewing, horseback riding, and swimming. Joanne would like to become a speech therapist, working in a hospital.

MARYJANE BROSKA
2266 Wilbraham Road

Here at Classical, Maryjane has been a three-year member of I.R.C. When time permits, she enjoys such things as horseback riding, swimming and skiing. Maryjane would like to further her education at a state college or university.

DAVID BRESSEM
66 Silas Street

The Art Club, A.V.A., Stage Crew, Biology Club, and Carousel have been Dave's activities here. His hobbies include camping, archery, and forestry. Dave would like to attend an agricultural school and to major in forestry.

CURTISS BROSSMER
83 Woodcrest Road

Curt's affinity for music induces him to participate in the band, the Dance Band, the Brass Choir, and the All District Band. He has also been a member of the swimming team. Curt's major at a liberal arts college will be either music or English.

field but also in extra-curricular activities.

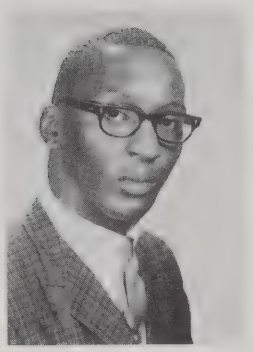

NANCY BROWN
100 Embassy Road

Nancy has been a two-year member of I.R.C. and the Future Teachers Club. She was also an essential member of the Scribe and Blue and White advertising staffs. Her favorite hobby is roller skating. Nancy's aim is to be an elementary school teacher.

JAMES BULLOCK
190 Oak Grove Avenue

During his years at Classical, Jim has been a member of I.R.C., the Choir, and J.A. His hobby is collecting records by famous folk singers and choirs. His ambition is to teach music.

SHERI BROWN
17 Anglesea Street

Sheri, in her freshman year, was secretary of the Class of '65. During the next two years she served as secretary and then program chairman of I.R.C. Most of her hobbies lean toward sports, water skiing and horseback riding. Sheri would like to major in psychology.

TERRILL BURNETT
111 Wilbraham Avenue

Terry, "whose first love is track," is an outstanding running broad jumper. To substantiate this, she holds the girls' city record. She is also a member of G.A.A. and the Drill Team. Terry plans a career in social work.

ANDANO BRYAN
691 State Street

Sports minded Andano has been a member of G.A.A. for two years. Her hobbies include reading, dancing, and various sports. Upon graduation, Andano would like to pursue a career in the field of business administration.

CAROLYN BURRILL
139 Saint James Circle

Carolyn has been a two-year member of I.R.C., the Spanish Club, and the secretary for the Future Nurses Club. As she enjoys all sports like swimming, bowling, and golf, Carolyn was a student leader in gym.

CYNTHIA BRYANT
441 Goodwin Street
Indian Orchard

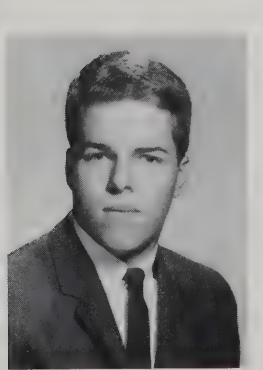

Cynthia has enjoyed memberships in both the Chorus and Choir. Other activities include I.R.C. and the Red Cross. She is also a student leader in gym. Because Cynthia has a great interest in people, she would like to become a social worker.

KATHLEEN CALLAHAN
89 Cherokee Drive

Kathy's major activity in her freshman year was a membership in Pierides. In her junior year she joined the majorettes and this year finds Kathy as captain, a three-year member in I.R.C., and a member of the Future Teachers Club. She plans to major in elementary education.

BRUCE BULLEN
386 Longhill Street

An active member of the Class of '65, Bruce has been the class President in his junior and senior years, and Student of the Month Editor for Recorder. Among his outside interests are sports, reading, and jazz. Bruce is uncertain about his future after graduation from college.

STEFANI CAMPBELL
17 Armory Square

Stefani, because her father is in the Army, has had the good fortune to live in Germany for three years. Her hobbies include bowling, horseback riding, and swimming. Stefani would like to take a training course after graduation.

A notable highlight was the selection of four National Merit Scholarship

SANDRA CANEGALLO
1195 Berkshire Avenue
Indian Orchard

Sandie has served on the ticket and make-up committees for Carousel in her junior year. She has also been a two-year member of I.R.C. In her leisure, Sandie enjoys dancing and miniature golf. "Dreams of the distant future include a tour of Europe and South America."

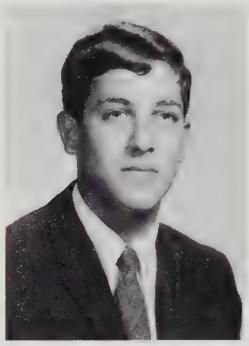

ANN CARRA
51 Mayher Street

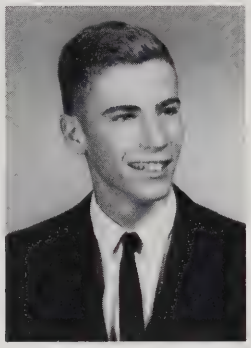

Ann, during her three years at Classical, has been a member of I.R.C. for two years. Her hobbies are reading and traveling. Ann hopes to attend college and become a teacher.

MARK CANTER
109 Wayne Street

At Classical, Mark has been an "important member" of the golf, tennis, and soccer teams. He would like to attend college and major in economics and political science and later go on to law school.

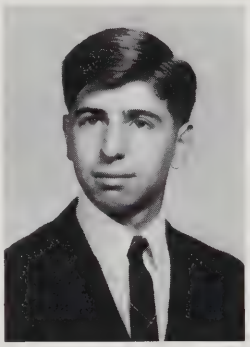

WILLIAM CARRIE
74 Ellsworth Avenue

In his freshman year, Bill was a member of the Science Club. He also was in Junior Achievement. In his junior year, Bill was on the hockey team. Bill hopes to attend college and major in engineering.

PETER CARELLAS
11 Murray Hill Avenue

Pete has been a member of the International Relations Club, the Spanish Club, Boys' Chorus, and Choir, the Track Team and the baseball team. Pete's hobbies outside of school include playing the trumpet and the valve bugle, and collecting stamps.

MAUREEN CHERNICK
184 Commonwealth Avenue

Maureen participated in I.R.C. and the German Club. In her spare time, she enjoys knitting, sewing, and ice skating. Maureen would like to major in mathematics in college and minor in elementary education.

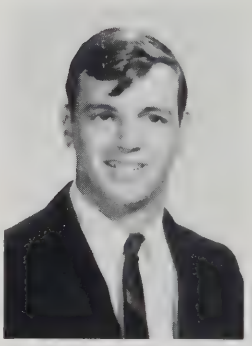

LINDA CARLSON
59 Talbot Road

Linda has been an energetic worker on the Blue and White staff in addition to being a dedicated library assistant. Her membership in the Future Teachers Club indicates her interest in a career in education.

FRANK CHRZANOWSKI
37 Spruce Street

Most of Frank's activities have been sports. However, he has been a member of the Art Club, of which he is vice-president this year. His hobbies include hunting, fishing, skiing, and most sports! Frank's ambition is to be an officer in the Army.

153 Groveland Street

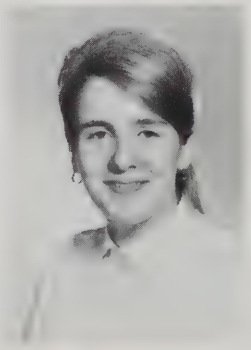

Besides being a member of the Honor Society, Cicily has been a three-year member of I.R.C., Pierides, and the French Club. She has also been feature editor on Recorder. Her hobbies are reading and "writing bad poetry." Cicily will major in French.

JUDITH CLAYTON
178 Ellsworth Avenue

In her senior year, Judy is a two-year member of Girls' Patrol and president of the Future Nurses Club. Judy hopes to obtain a B.S. in nursing and join the Peace Corps.

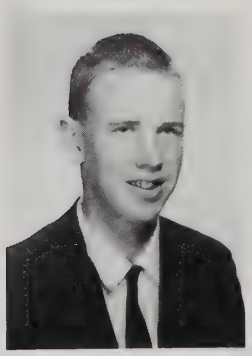

MARIE CORTELLI
76 Savoy Avenue

Marie has had two-year memberships in the Future Nurses Club and the Art Club. Marie's artistic talents have adorned the cover of the Blue and White for two years. Marie, a long-standing accordion player, plans to enter nursing and later the Peace Corps.

ADRIENNE COBB
117 Buckingham Street

Adrienne has been active in the band, Carousel, Pierides, G.A.A., Chorus, and on the Activities Committee. She is also a member of the Recorder staff. She enjoys reading short novels and plays. Adrienne will probably major in sociology at college.

MICHAEL CURRAN
142 Oregon Street

Mike has found that attending Classical leaves him little leisure. Because of an after school job and a five-major program, he has been unable to participate in any clubs. Mike would like to major in history or political science.

KENNETH COHN
173 Groveland Street

Ken has served Classical well as both class treasurer and a member of Student Government for three years. He is also a member of Boys' Patrol and the band. His future hopes include college and a major in mathematics.

ROBERT DAMBROV
89 Abbott Street

Bob is an enthusiastic member of the Classical golf team. His hobbies include all sports but golf in particular in which "I play a very good game." Bob's interests lean toward psychiatry, accounting and law.

Seniors led the "As Schools Match Wits" team

JOE-ANN DEARING
15 Richelieu Place

Enjoying sports, Joe-Ann has belonged to G.A.A. in which she has played in field hockey, and badminton. She has been a Red Cross representative, and a member of I.R.C. Joe-Ann's future plans include a course in Cosmetology.

A sports fan, Dick has participated on the football and wrestling teams. Outside of school he also enjoys sports. After graduation, Dick plans to enter the Marine Corps.

Students are caught

Classical was finally able to secure a mascot, Pogo, through the aid of Mrs. Vera Fuller. Melody Eaton laughingly restrained the energetic bulldog for this picture. Pogo was the surprise finale to an assembly honoring Classical's first undefeated football squad.

Master of Ceremonies, Tino Galluzzo was also one of the talented singers in Carousel. Here he is in his inimitable way "crooning" a number at rehearsals. Assisted by a capable crew, manned by many seniors, the performance was flawless. Tino and the entire cast provided an evening of delightful entertainment.

in the act of being themselves.

The Junior Prom, held in the spacious ballroom of the Kimball Towers, was truly a "Wonderful, Wonderful" occasion. Members of the receiving line seemed to enjoy the evening as well as the Junior class did. As the line formed, members of the class and their escorts were introduced by ushers, members of the Freshman class, to our honored guests.

The ballroom seemed a symphony of colorful dresses, beautiful flowers, and the sound of happy, excited voices. The music, supplied by Bernie Cohen and his band, aptly complemented the festive mood of the evening.

This gala event was climaxed by the crowning of the queen, Heddy Lissberger. Members of Her Majesty's court were Faye Kitchener, Nancy Herndon, Shirley Bleau, and Donna DuBois. Corsages of flowers were presented to each girl in the court; the queen received a bouquet of red roses.

The Class of 1966 has maintained

Much of the success of the junior year of the Class of 1966 has been due in a large measure to the tireless efforts and planning of its capable advisers, Mr. Girr, Miss Lopardo, Miss Rouillard, and Mr. Stevens, chairman.

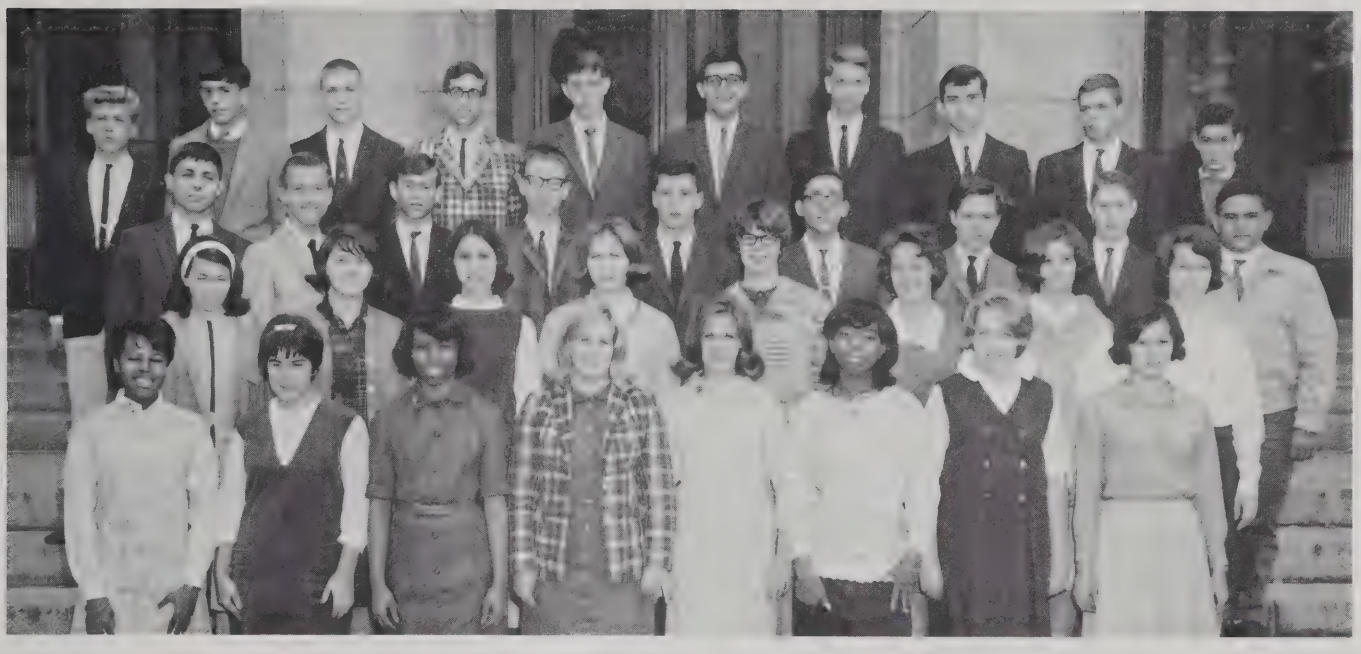

In their freshman year, members of the Class of 1966 made outstanding contributions to the scholastic record of the school and participated in varsity sports events. They became the first class to wear a school ring, eliminating individual class rings by designing and adopting one that will henceforth be worn by all members of Classical High School.

The junior year, so long awaited by the class in its freshman year, has fulfilled all expectations. Certain qualified students have served their class and school well through the coveted organizations of Boys Patrol, Girls Patrol, and Blue and White. Others have left their mark as members of our lively cheerleading squad; many have been very active participants in the music and art groups; some have taken on the duties of officers of the many school clubs, and even non-school organizations. They have contributed further to the glorious victories enjoyed by our athletic and scholastic teams throughout the year.

The junior members of student government have had the responsibility of operating the Bulldog School Store. This venture has been a very worthwhile endeavor. For the first time in the history of the Holiday Semi-Formal a junior was chosen as its queen. The Junior Activities Committee has sponsored the major junior events of the year. Their Cookie sale last January proved to be such a tremendous success that other organizations followed suit. Surely, the highlight of the year was the Junior Prom, Al di La which was held last April. Everyone who attended the prom had a marvelous time dancing to the music of Bernie Cohen's dance band. The juniors are anticipating a wonderful senior year.

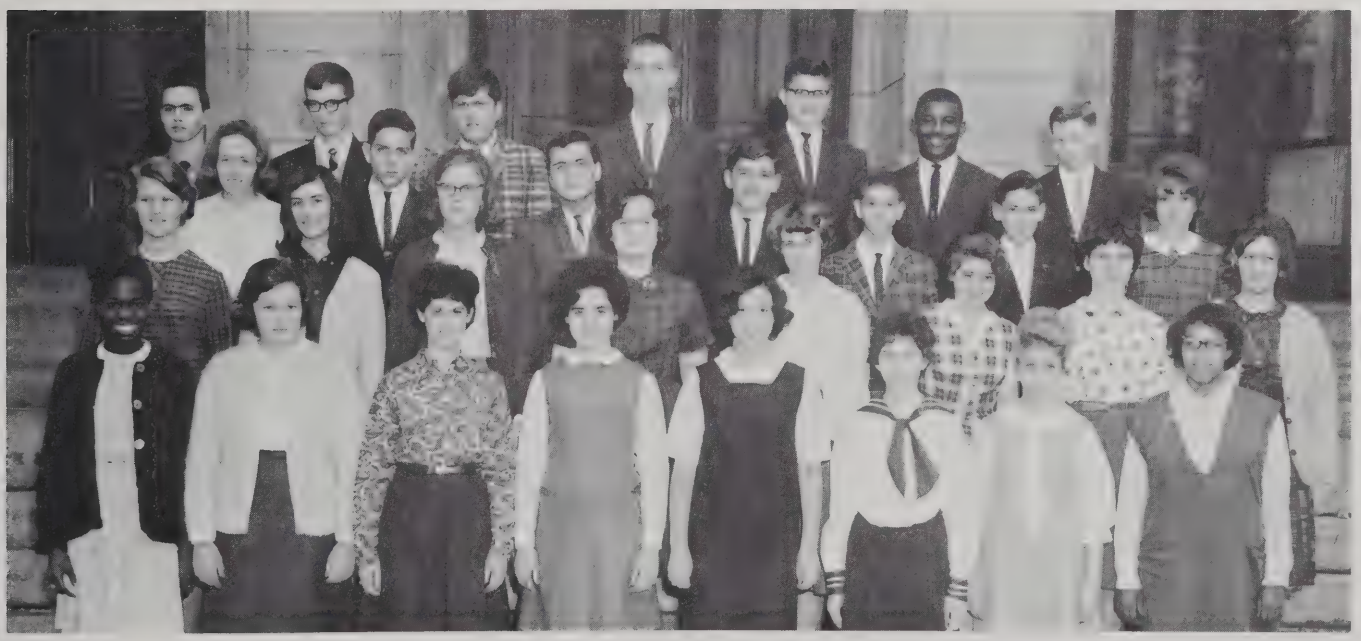

To guide their class in their junior year the juniors chose Carol Santaniello, vice-president; Philip Contant, president; Mary Montori, secretary; Elaine Karamallis, member-at-large; and Jonathan Boz-Beckian, treasurer.

Every high school student has an opportunity to participate in Junior Achievement. This organization helps to develop the youth of today into responsible adults. The participants of Junior Achievement form small companies of twenty members each. Each company issues stock certificates, is given a charter, and forms a corporation. The members of each company actually manufacture a product themselves and sell it. Susan Taylor, a Junior at Classical, is an active and efficient member of Junior Achievement. Bruce H. MacLeod, president of Valley Bank and Trust Company, and Victor J. Mari, executive director of the Safety Council for Western Massachusetts, show a great interest in the "Emergency Blinker Light" which Miss Taylor's company manufactures.

The Juniors are anticipating

At the conclusion of their freshman year, eligible boys, recommended by their teachers are interviewed by the officers of the Boys Patrol. After this screening a small group is selected to serve as members beginning with their junior year. The juniors who have served on Boys Patrol this year are (front row) Jeffrey Ryder, Ralph Yates, George Vassos, Glenn Nicholson, Ronald Siwinski; (second row) Stuart Meyers, Stephen Lotterman, Glenn Affleck, George Hopper, Mark Wing, Daniel Gaudreau, and Michael Arslan.

To be accepted for Girls Patrol, a girl must have a good scholastic record and good attendance. Most important, she must be highly recommended by all of her teachers. These qualified juniors who have served on the Girls Patrol this year are (front row) Maura Levine, Ludmila Grechko, Ruth O'Brien, Joan Bryant, Charlotte Robinson, June Bryant; (second row) Maryann Mekalian, Judy Parakilas, Dorothy Willcutt, Maryann Puglia, Christine Ziter, and Linda Martin.

Five girls and five boys are chosen at the end of their freshman year to begin service on the Blue and White Staff in their junior year. Juniors Perry Gotsis, Elaine Sullivan, James McCurry, Jean Strain, James Crow, Noreen Sullivan, James Carithers, Barbara Alicandri, and Howard Case, along with a similar number of seniors, have devoted much time and effort to producing the Blue and White this year.

an equally active senior year.

The Junior Activities Committee has been working diligently throughout the school year in order to achieve an ultimate success in the junior prom. There is more than meets the eye in planning for the prom which is one of the most important events of the junior year. It is necessary to plan fund-raising activities in order to gain the capital needed for the expense of the occasion. The Junior Activities Committee has held a highly successful cookie sale and has sold numerous sweatshirts to fellow classmates. One customer, Noreen Sullivan, is purchasing her sweatshirt from activities members Elaine Sullivan and Roni Posner before the supply runs out.

Under the leadership of efficient officers and advisers

The most significant undertaking of any class is the election of officers. Students desiring to serve their class as officers give campaign speeches in which they present their qualifications to their fellow students. After careful consideration of each one's capabilities, students then vote for the candidates who they feel will best fulfill the duties of the respective offices. The Class of '67 has displayed intelligence in choosing as its officers Alexander Halperin, vice-president; Geno Alissi, president; Kathleen Coleman, member-at-large; Elinor Hartshorn, treasurer; and Deborah BozBeckian, secretary.

Writing a constitution is an important part of any organization if it wishes to maintain effectiveness and efficiency, and the Class of 1967 is no exception. Under the guidance of Mr. Bernard Donnelly, the homeroom representatives strive for that which they feel will meet the particular needs of their class. By using the constitution of a previous class as the framework for their own document, constitution committee members also assemble further material for careful analysis and study. Everything is then organized so that a preliminary outline can be made. After additional discussion the committee determines what their constitution will finally contain, and a secretary types up the finished product for the inspection of the Freshman Class. Busily gathering material are Peter DuBiel, Deborah Lee, Michael Fay, Ellen Birnbaum, Alfred Colosimo, and Thomas Rokosz.

the class of 1967 has made considerable progress

The Class of 1967 has begun to exhibit those qualities characteristic of Classical students. Freshmen have truly become an integral part of Classical through their participation in all school functions ranging from sports to club activities.

The advisors, officers, student government representatives, and members of committees for activities, banner, and constitution have worked to make the freshman year an outstanding one for the Class of 1967.

Scarcely a person from this three hundred and eighty-nine member class could say that this year has not been rewarding and exciting. As nervous and bewildered students, they entered Classical to be welcomed by a Student Government assembly and later to be assigned a homeroom and given a student handbook. Getting acquainted and oriented was soon accomplished by seemingly adjusted students.

One of the principal duties facing the Class of '67 was the election of officers to guide them. Student Government conducted the election in a most commendable manner.

For those freshmen who have been faithful to their studies, this has been an enriching year. In great numbers freshmen have also attended sports events in order to promote school spirit and exercise good sportsmanship. For those who have filled the stands, this has been an exciting year with our remarkable athletic teams. Moreover, many freshmen have shared with us their talents in the musical concerts and in Carousel. They have willingly donated their time to better the welfare of Classical.

As the freshman year of the Class of 1967 draws to a close, they look forward eagerly to their approaching junior year.

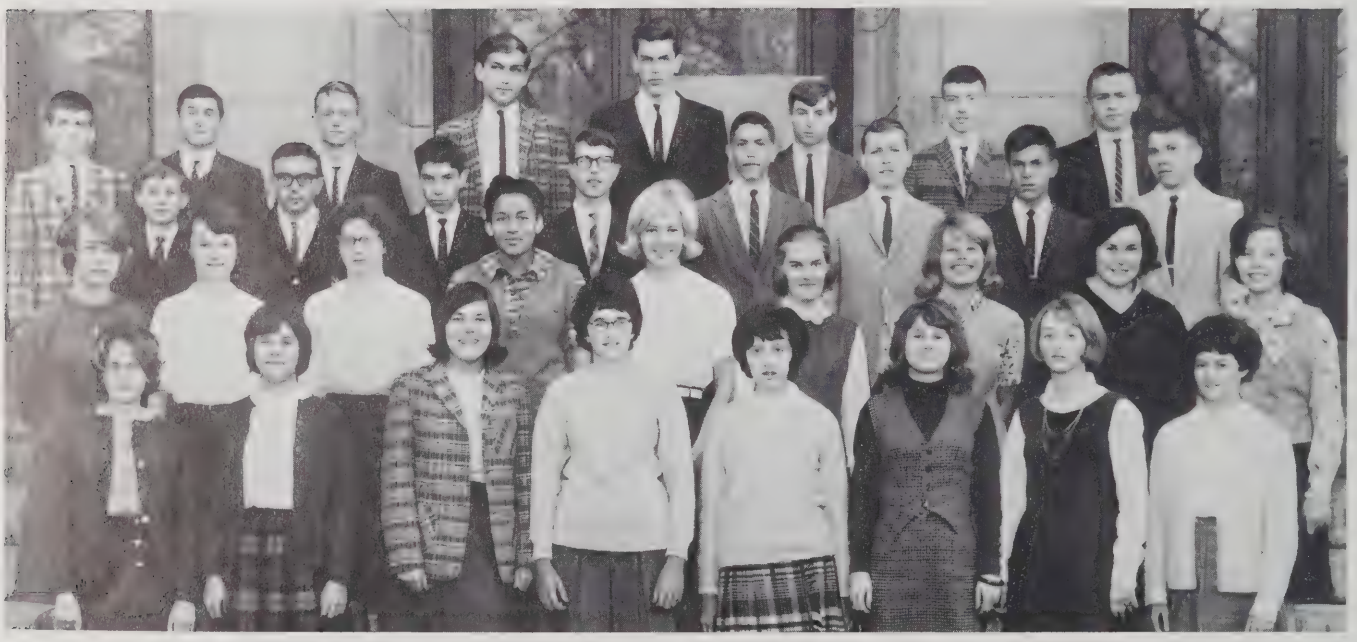

The smooth functioning of the Class of '67 is due in part to the efficiency of its advisers, Mr. Bernard Donnelly, Mrs. Mary Erard, Mrs. Beulah Towne, and Mr. William Young. Their guidance has been extremely helpful to the freshman class throughout the school year. They have willingly given their time to help the freshmen plan various activities and solve any problems that may have arisen. Through the efforts of the advisers the Class of '67 has become better acquainted with the way of life at Classical.

in becoming a well functioning part

A locker is a valuable storage place for a student's precious school supplies, his coat, and his lunch, providing that he knows the correct procedure for opening it. Every year Mr. Lamoreaux, who sees to it that everyone receives a locker, is swarmed upon by freshman girls who "can't seem to open their lockers." Although it involves nothing more than inserting the key and then turning it, sometimes the doors stick at the most inopportune times. In order to avoid this, Mr. Lamoreaux shows freshman Cheryl Boone, heavily laden with books, how to go about opening her own locker. After little instruction she learns to master "Open Sesame."

ALUMNI TEA

On December 22, 1964, the William C. Hill Chapter of the National Honor Society sponsored the Annual Alumni Christmas Tea. This enabled the members of the class of '64 to get together and to share their first college life experiences. The teachers and counselors also had an opportunity to learn about the progress of each alumnus and how his preparation for college at Classical compared with that of his classmates. After the refreshments had been served, many seniors enjoyed meeting their old friends once again.

Susan Dodge, Anita Schaefer, Karen Magnani, Helena Skvarnavicius, and Carol Bill share their experiences at Drew University, University of Maryland, Bates, and A.I.C.

Activities

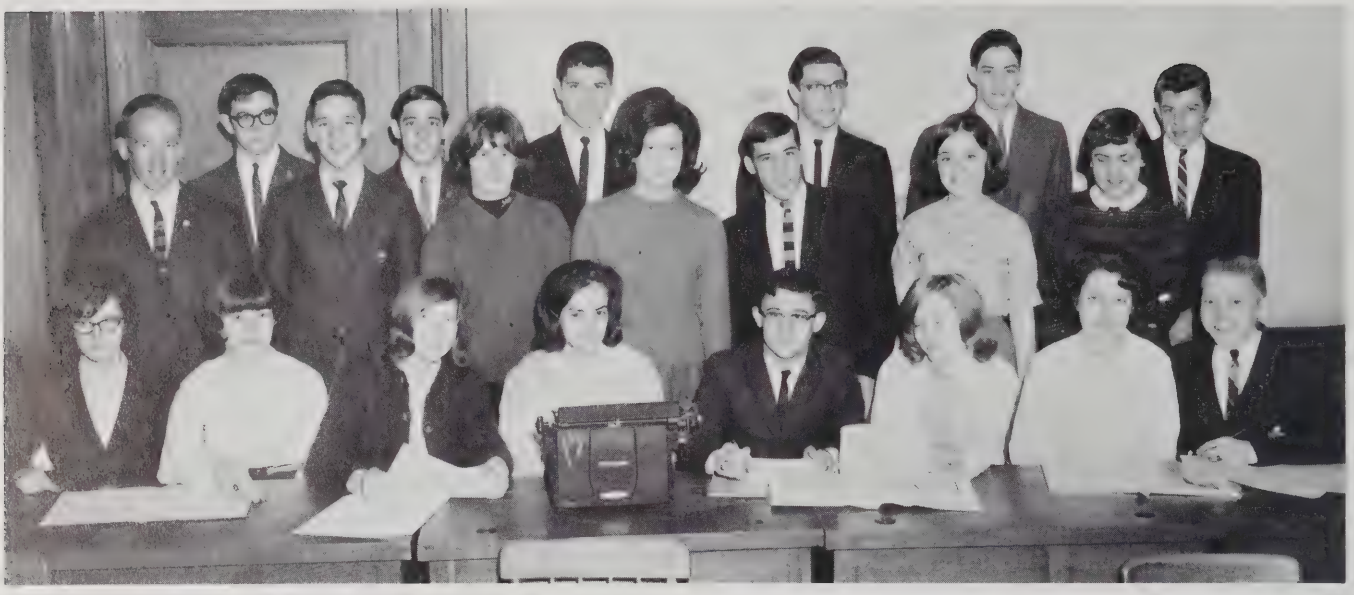

SPRINGFIELD NATIVITY SCENE

In 1964, the Madrigal Singers of Classical High School were invited by the Joint Civic Agencies to sing as the lights were turned on at the official opening of the Nativity Scene. The life-sized municipal Nativity display, which was first dedicated by Mayor Brunton thirteen years ago, helps to instill the happy and joyful Christmas spirit in downtown Springfield's Christmas shoppers. For about four weeks during the holiday season each year, choral and instrumental music groups provide appropriate music at the Nativity scene.

The secret of producing a successful yearbook

Each year the staff of Classical's Blue and White, composed of juniors and seniors, strives to captivate those events which have highlighted the school year. This year's staff includes: (seated) Jean Strain, Noreen Sullivan, Elaine Sullivan, Carole Michaels, Leonard Talevi, Linda Bailey, Elaine Ciak, and James McCurry; (standing) Peter Merchant, Gary Roberts, James Crowe, James Carithers, Barbara Alicandri, Perry Gotsis, Merilyn Smith, David Tebaldi, Howard Case, Virginia Therrien, Robert McNeil, and James Clapprood.

depends upon careful planning.

Each homeroom selects a responsible student to act as a Blue and White agent. Each agent collects money and records subscriptions for yearbooks in his homeroom and then forwards his accounts to the business staff. This year's agents are: (front row) James Carithers, Gerald Kahn, Adrienne Cooke, Janice Gallup, Roberta Horowitz, Roberta Scougall, Barbara Baines, Charles Smith; (second row) Gail Berry, Carol Meaney, Darlene Francis, Nona Markowitz, Marilyn Phillips, Deborah Lee, and Peter DuBiel; (third row) Grace Stebbins, Zoia Stefani, Patricia Hogan, Susan Taylor, Carolyn Whiting, and Christine Dragone; (back row) Deborah BozBeckian, Doris Stevens, Coreen Franklin, Gretchen Mooney, Roberta Brundrett, Leslie Nuger, and Thomasina Ferguson.

The business staff is divided into two sections, the circulation and the advertising departments. The advertising staff is an essential part of the Blue and White because they help to cut down on many of the yearbook's expenses. Those who serve in this position solicit ads from various stores and corporations.

Teamwork on the part of staff members

The second division of the business staff is the circulation department. When the Blue and White agents collect money from the students, they turn the money over to the circulation managers. It is the job of these managers to count all the money and to make sure it concurs with the receipts. At the end of the year, the department members see to it that the books are properly circulated. Linda Bailey is handing over money to James Clapprood; Bob McNeil is going over accounts with faculty adviser, Miss Porter.

Preparation for the yearbook begins in the spring, so that when the students return in September they resume work immediately. This year's editor, Leonard Talevi, has had many tasks to perform. He has had the responsibility of teaching newcomers the fundamentals of yearbook production. One of the jobs of staff members is to take the pictures for their sections. Leonard is helping Elaine Ciak prepare a schedule for taking pictures. The new members are then taught how to crop the pictures and to reduce them to the desirable size.

After preparing the pictures, much time is devoted to writing the identifications and other necessary copy. The written material must be concise and accurate. Everything must be measured to fit on the page and yet maintain balance. When everything is satisfactory, it is sent to the printer. Next, the printed material is sent back to be proofread again before the yearbook is put together. Working on layout are Perry Gotsis, Noreen Sullivan, Barbara Alicandri, and Linda Carlson.

is essential to the success of all publications.

Early in the school year, Classical held its annual Open House Night during National Education Week. This occasion allows the parents, student body, and faculty to get together and review the activities and accomplishments of the students. The Art Department constructed a reproduction of the 1964 yearbook. Also in the display are pictures which represent the various stages in the yearbook's production. The reproduction itself is symbolic of the finished product, which is the result of hard work and many long hours. Observing the display are Mrs. Jessica Ciak, Mr. Francis Roberts, and Mrs. Malcolm Merchant.

Adviser Miss Virginia Mills
Staff.....Sharon Clarke, Marc Freeman, Hedy Kaplan, Susan Kasper, Linda Martin, John Miller, Michael Poling, Susan Raciborski, Ellen Sealander, and Barbara Swiatlowski

Miss Mills' 11H English class publishes our annual literary magazine, The Scribe. The staff selects the best short stories, poems, and essays from the student body. After the Christmas vacation, the staff places a box in the library for literary contributions. Next, the staff selects the best articles and sends them to the printer. The Art Department aids the staff in advertising and in making block prints and line drawings to match the selections. When the staff has completed the final layout and proofread all the copy, The Scribe is printed.

Instrumental music provides students

The Classical High School field band is kept active during the first part of the year performing during half time at the football games. Their lively performances are morale builders for our outstanding football squad. Between football games the band takes time to march in local parades. Thrilling parade watchers by its musical dance routines, the band earned a trophy for the second consecutive time in the 1964 Columbus Day Parade.

When the fall marching season ends, the band immediately begins preparing for their concert season. After diligent rehearsal of concert music, the band tours junior high schools in the city, emphasizing that music is an important activity at Classical. The annual Spring Concert always offers an enjoyable evening for all who attend.

Under Mr. Vincent O'Keeffe's direction, and under the guidance of its officers, Leonard Alexander, president, Gilbert Vickers, vice-president, Susan Pevzner, secretary, Clifford Phaneuf, treasurer, Michael Arslan, field marshall, and Judith Glazer, librarian, the band has had an active and successful year.

Mrs. Kitty Broman, a local television personality, was hostess to the brass choir when they appeared with Mr. O'Keeffe, their director, on her television program: (standing) Gail Newsome, Ruth Stroshine, Paul Raverta, Richard Hammet, William Neigher, James McCurry, Elaine Winkler, Joseph Kaye, Stuart Shapiro, and Curtis Brossmer; (seated) Leonard Alexander, Mrs. Broman, Mr. O'Keeffe, and John Nadolski.

Swinging to jazz medleys, the Dixieland Band, Stanley Piekos, William Neigher, Leonard Alexander, Marcus Soutra, and Paul Raverta is an active promoter of school spirit. It plays at rallies, football games, and hockey games, inciting spectators to shout and cheer.

The traditional Classical High School Christmas Concert proved to be one of the most beautiful musical presentations of the school year. From the opening selection of carols, old and new, played by the orchestra, to the tumultuous conclusion "The Song of Galilee," sung by the combined choruses, alumni, and audience, it was a program everyone enjoyed.

All of the choral groups in the school participated under the direction of Miss Virginia Yuro. Following the opening selections played by the orchestra, the choir began by singing the traditional Christmas favorite "Joy to the World." The Girls' Chorus, Boys' Chorus, and Madrigal Singers followed with their arrangements of music suited to the occasion. One of the highlights of the evening was the combined Choir and Madrigal, singing "Glory to God in the Highest." The Brass Choir added variety to the program with a difficult piece, Contrapunctus V. The concert was a magnificent prelude to the Christmas holiday.

MUSIC NOTES

The Classical High School orchestra, which is best known for its participation in the annual Christmas concert, has about twenty-five members. It is directed by Mr. O'Keeffe.

Besides participating on the "At Home With Kitty Show," the brass choir appeared in the Christmas Concert, and they performed at the Massachusetts All-State Music Convention last April with the world-renowned musician, Mr. Roger Voisin.

The Classical Woodwind Quintet is well-known for its excellent chamber music. These five musicians, Adele Newman, Gilbert Vickers, Ethan Sloane, Eugene Fantl, and Theodore Fantl, have performed for the Junior Extension of the Tuesday Morning Music Club.

On many occasions the Madrigal Singers have been invited to perform for organizations in the community. They seranaded the late Dr. William C. Hill on his ninetieth birthday, shortly before his death last year. They were chosen to participate in the opening ceremonies of the Christmas 1964 Nativity Scene on City Hall esplanade. Last April, the Madrigal singers performed at the Massachusetts All-State Music Convention at the University of Massachusetts under the direction of Miss Virginia Yuro. These and other music groups in the school have provided countless hours of enjoyment for many Classical students.

Qualified music students at Classical also have the opportunity to audition for the all-district, all-state, and even all-eastern choruses, bands, and orchestras. We have a relatively large number of participants in these groups this year, from both the choral and instrumental departments.

holiday with a bright spirit.

Treasurer—William Metzger	William Metzger

Ruth Stroshine, president of Student Government, starts the S.T. drive by selling the first ticket to Bruce Bullen, president of the Senior class.

Student Government, one of the most important student organizations, began the year by welcoming the freshmen with a special assembly and a mixer to help them get acquainted with Classical and with each other and by conducting the S.T. drive to build up the treasury funds for future activities. The members of the School Store Committee proceeded to sell football and basketball tickets, dance tickets, books for the National Honor Society, bookcovers, sweatshirts and other miscellaneous items in the Bulldog Bargain Basement. During the holiday season, Student Government held its annual semi-formal dance at the Schine Inn. This enabled the members of all three classes to have a memorable time together. When it was time to select class officers, the S.G. Election Committee prepared nomination papers, held an assembly at which the candidates presented their nomination speeches, guarded the ballot box, and counted the votes. This committee also supervised the ten Students of the Month elections for a boy and a girl with outstanding characteristics. At the end of the year, Student Government used the money which had been made at the school store to present several deserving students with scholarships.

to keep the school fuctioning successfully.

STUDENT TREASURY

Through the Student Treasury go almost all the money transactions of the school. The Student Treasury year begins with the S.T. drive every October under the capable supervision of Miss Dean. Through the hard work of Miss Dean and Donna DuBois, leader of the S.T. drive from Student Government, the drive this year was a thorough success. Donna provided a sorely needed permanent S.T. Report Board for this and future years. The S.T. Board, composed of Mr. Montagna, Mr. Peterson, Mrs. Bowen, adviser to Student Government, Mr. Andrewes, in charge of money deposit, Mr. Wessman, in charge of disbursement, Mr. Lynch, and Student Government representatives then met to decide on money distributions to the various school organizations such as Student Government, Recorder and Blue and White.

The new S.T. board informs Linda Tammi, Melody Eaton, Angelo Odato, and all students of the progress of the S.T. drive.

The A.V.A. and the stage crew helped to make

One important aspect of the Audio Visual Aides is the care of school projection equipment. Steven Sarandis, Alan Schaluck, Dennis Murphy, and John McCarthy make sure that this projector will operate successfully.

AUDIO VISUAL AIDES AND STAGE CREW

Audio Visual Aides and the stage crew are an indispensible part of Classical High School. If a teacher wishes to supplement his regular classes with movies, records, or tapes, he need only give the word to Mr. Szetela or one of his assistants, Mr. Pare or Mr. Jerome Shea, and soon an audio visual aide will be ready with equipment.

The stage crew, under the direction of Mr. Pare, operate the public address system and the lights during assemblies and other functions performed in the auditorium.

It is the task of senior stage crew members to break in new members. In the foreground, David Bressem and Leonard Alexander demonstrate the operation of the tape recorder and the cannon spotlight for the benefit of Keff Lagodite, Kent Servis, Henry DiCarlo, Harry Eckman, Mike Spagnoli, Scott Atwater, and Joe Dziedzie.

"Carousel 65" the success that it was.

CAROUSEL

On February 19 and 20, Classical presented "Carousel 65." This two-act production revolved around a variety of numbers including dancing, skits, chorus lines, and instrumental and vocal music. These musical numbers ranged from classical to modern jazz. Mr. Vincent O'Keeffe and his band accompanied all the musical numbers except the folk singers.

The two and one-half hour show became a success because of the incessant work of the ninety-nine students who appeared. Credit for success also goes to the backstage crew in charge of the lighting, sound, stage, and costumes. Doreen Waltein, Ted Sandquist (Stage Manager), Dave Bressem (Scenery Design), and Lenny Alexander (Scenery and Lighting Design) constituted the planning committee. Assistant Principal Russell Peterson was general coordinator. Other faculty members assisting him were Richard Perronga (Dramatics), Miss Virginia Yuro (Vocal), Mr. Vincent O'Keeffe (Band), Mrs. Audrey Desrochers (Choreography), Mrs. Helen Laramee (Art), and Miss Yolanda Laparda (Costumes).

Doreen Waltein, one of the six folk singers who appeared in "Carousel 65," looks quite professional as she performs. She is singing a popular folk tune, "Where are you going?"

Miss Virginia Yuro, a member of our faculty, instructs the girls' chorus in the singing of "America." This weary group is taking a well deserved break from an exhausting rehearsal.

PARENT-TEACHER-STUDENT ASSOCIATION

The Classical High School P.T.S.A. was the first organization formed to bring about a closer relationship between parents, teachers, and students. It also has the honor of having the largest membership in the state.

The program began with the College Counseling Night for parents on September 30. Principal Mr. Montagna, Assistant Principal Mr. Peterson, and the counselors Mr. Comeau, Miss Corcoran, and Mrs. Ramos discussed the importance of a college education, how to choose a college, admission requirements, expenses, and scholarships. The question and answer period which followed enabled the parents to have any puzzling points clarified.

Open House, on November 18, provided an opportunity for parents to meet their children's teachers and learn what would be covered in each one of their courses. The parents were also able to visit the language lab, the library, and other student facilities.

There were two events for the purpose of increasing the Scholarship Fund. The first was the food sale on November 3 to which the parents donated baked goods and money. The other event was the March Fashion Show where the new spring fashions were modeled.

At the Spring Concert, the highlight of the year, the vocal groups under the direction of Miss Yuro and the instrumental sections with Mr. O'Keeffe presented modern as well as classical pieces. Because of the small seating capacity of our auditorium, many people had to stand throughout the two-hour performance.

The last meeting of the year was Activities Night. Each club presented a skit showing some of its activities to an audience of prospective students and their parents. At that time also the officers for 1965-1966 were installed.

Judge Eileen Griffin, an alumna of Classical High School, and Mrs. Ellen Stanton wish for pleasant spring weather by the wishing well to go with their new spring ensembles.

Parents "discover" Classical

The "Open House" each year provides the vital link between Classical teachers, students, and parents. At the "Open House," parents really "discover" the Classical they have heard so much about at home, for they learn about new educational techniques, the modern Classical curriculum, and the student life in general. Long before the Classical parents arrive at the "Open House," teachers arrive to be ready for their "extra special" schedule of classes. Students Gary Roberts and Peter Merchant call the attention of Miss King, Mr. O'Donnell, and Miss Morris to an Art Department display on American Education Week.

On their arrival at Classical, parents are cordially greeted by Mr. Montagna. He explains that their schedule of classes for the night will be exactly that of their son's or daughter's and wishes them well.

During the "Open House" night, many parents pause to view the "common" features of Classical that students often overlook or take for granted. Mrs. Adeline Kane, Mrs. Robert Berry, and Mr. and Mrs. Kapiel Atanian pause to admire our trophy case, a gift of the classes of 1961 and 1962. They are examining some of our newer prizes including the trophy for the best band in the Columbus Day Parade of 1964 and the First Place Certificate awarded by Columbia Scholastic Press Association to Blue and White for the 1964 yearbook.

at the annual P.T.S.A. "Open House."

During the "Open House" night, parents make use of their "study periods" by going to the counselor's office to visit informally with our counselors Miss Corcoran, Mr. Comeau, and Mrs. Ramos and view the fine facilities of the office. Among the outstanding features of the counselor's office which especially interest parents are the large library of college catalogs and the bulletin boards which keep students abreast of college activities. Mrs. Albina Bednarzyk and Mr. and Mrs. Donald Kramer glance at some of the college catalogs while Mr. and Mrs. John McKelligott chat with Mr. Comeau.

Our modern language lab is a beehive of activity during the evenings of "Open House." In the lab parents may listen to French, Spanish, German, Hebrew, and Russian language tapes and experience the same understanding of the language that a Classical language student does. The language lab is the modern approach to teaching a foreign language. Parents on the left listen to sentence patterns in French and, at the same time, parents on the right listen to some in Spanish.

Mr. Mulak explains some of the complexities of modern aerodynamics to an attentive class of parents. He emphasizes the importance of demonstration and makes full use of his "magnetic board" in all his physics classes. The attentive parents are Mrs. James Shenas, Mr. Charles Skvirsky, and Mrs. Malcolm Merchant.

At the end of their night at Classical, parents were much impressed with the many flights of stairs at Classical and the "misplacement" of our gyms in the sub-basement, but they were impressed more by the modern curriculum and teaching approaches at Classical, than by the physical aspects.

GIRLS' PATROL

Adviser: Miss Ruth Dickerman

Meeting time and place: Daily before school in room 227

Officers: Captain—Susan Bednarzyk
Lieutenants—Linda Genden
Nancy Stuart
Clerk—Cynthia Larder

The members of the Girls' Patrol, which consists of juniors and seniors, are of great assistance in many parts of the school. Besides helping the office staff in 105, these capable girls aid the Guidance Office by answering questions and replacing college catalogues. The Girls' Patrol also helps with the hearing and vision tests. They also patrol the girls' rest room and have posts in the cafeteria during lunch periods. A few of their more infrequent but pleasant activities are ushering at concerts, Carousel, and graduation.

Ludmila Grechko, Gail Harris, and Ruth O'Brien are ready to perform any of their various duties in the office such as filing, delivering bulletins, or running errands.

The Boys' Patrol is a service organization designed to maintain order and help to enforce school rules. A common sight on the stairways and in corridors is a member of the Boys' Patrol directing traffic. The boys are also on duty in the lunchroom where they help to keep the lunchroom tidy and in the office where they aid forgetful students who don't have their locker keys.

This year, a few of the boys participated in "singing" for the Salvation Army. Regardless of whether or not the collection was bigger, the performance of Angelo Odato, Glenn Nicholson, Gary Mullett, Ted LaRochelle, and Bill Bridgman was a delectation.

Service is the goal of the Red Cross.

The Tag Day Enrollment Drive was in progress when students entered the school at eight o'clock. Doreen Scott is collecting money from Lawrence Cohen while Judy Rochford gives him a Red Cross tag and Membership Card.

Adviser: Mrs. Julia Beverley
Meeting Time and Place: Twice a month in room 214
Officers: President.....Judy Rochford
Vice-President.....Harold Dash
Secretary.....Ruth O'Brien
Program Chairman.....Barbara Hitchcock
Publicity Chairman.....Sandra Steinberg

The purpose of the High School Red Cross is to serve the community by supporting the local Chapter of the American Red Cross and to serve the school. This year it was not mandatory that each homeroom have a Red Cross representative. Instead, only students with a sincere interest in the Red Cross were encouraged to join. The annual task of the High School Red Cross is the enrollment drive in November. Enthusiastic members this year attacked the old problem with a new approach. A Tag Day Enrollment Drive was held on November 24. Red Cross members greeted students at the doors of school in the morning offering a Red Cross membership card and a tag in exchange for a few coins. Because of the new approach taken, the Enrollment Drive was among the most successful in recent years. Other projects during the school year were decorating the Northampton Veterans Hospital, the Westover Air Force Hospital, and the South End Community Center on holidays and sending a school photo album overseas.

At the end of Tag Day, Red Cross President Judy Rochford, Vice-President Harold Dash, and Secretary Ruth O'Brien found that they had collected more money than any other previous enrollment drive.

ART CLUB

Adviser: Mrs. K. Helena Laramee
Meeting Time and Place: Period I on Wednesdays in the Art Studios—Rooms 312 and 313
Officers: President—James Sadler
Vice-President—Frank Chrzanowski
Secretary—Robert Achin
Treasurer—Lillian Mann

Under the leadership of Mrs. Laramee, the Art Club tries to foster, throughout the year, an appreciation of art among interested students. The Harvest Cookie Sale and the Christmas Sale provide financial assistance for the many field trips the club likes to make. Among visitations this year were trips to The Clark Museum in Williamstown and the artist colony at Rockport, Massachusetts. One of the highlights of the Art Club year is the annual trip to the Scholastic Art Awards competition in Boston. Classical students look forward to this national competition where they usually do well. This year six of our students had work exhibited and three students won awards. Jim Sadler, president of the Art Club won a Blue Ribbon and the right to compete for national honors. Jim also received the highest regional award, The Gold Key, along with Mary Ann Jennings and Robert Achin. While in Boston the group visited The Boston Museum of Fine Arts, The Isabella Stewart Gardner Museum, and The Massachusetts College of Art. The Art Club also serves the school in various ways among which are art work for assembly programs and Carousel, and providing the Art Department with a library of film strips on the history of art.

Art Club members David Bressem and Alfred LeBlanc show Mildred Schmidt some of the creations which are sold at the annual Christmas Sale in the Christmas Shop.

All Art Club members help to prepare for the annual Christmas Sale. Eva Varelas, Perry Powers, Sergio Tigera, and Setta Arsenian are busy painting gift bags in gay water colors. Jay Walbert looks on approvingly.

Professor Julio A. Giarrusso (center) of the political science department of American International College greets delegates Edward Macierowski, Nathaniel Ackerman, Karen Glazier, and Joyce Spencer from Classical.

SENATE

Adviser: Mr. Lewis Tenczar
Meeting time and place: Every other Wednesday in Room 224
Officers: First Semester
President—Donald Blair
Vice-President—Edward Maicerowski
Secretary—Nathaniel Ackerman
Treasurer—Nathaniel Ackerman
Officers: Second Semester
President—Bruce Bell
Vice-President—John McKelligott
Secretary—Nathaniel Ackerman

Boys interested in spirited discussions are encouraged in debating as they are instructed in the correct procedure. One of the many activities planned for this year was the Columbus Day Assembly that the Senate Committee staged. Another project was the annual Senate Tablet Debate. This debate was held in an assembly for the school in which the four best debaters of the club competed.

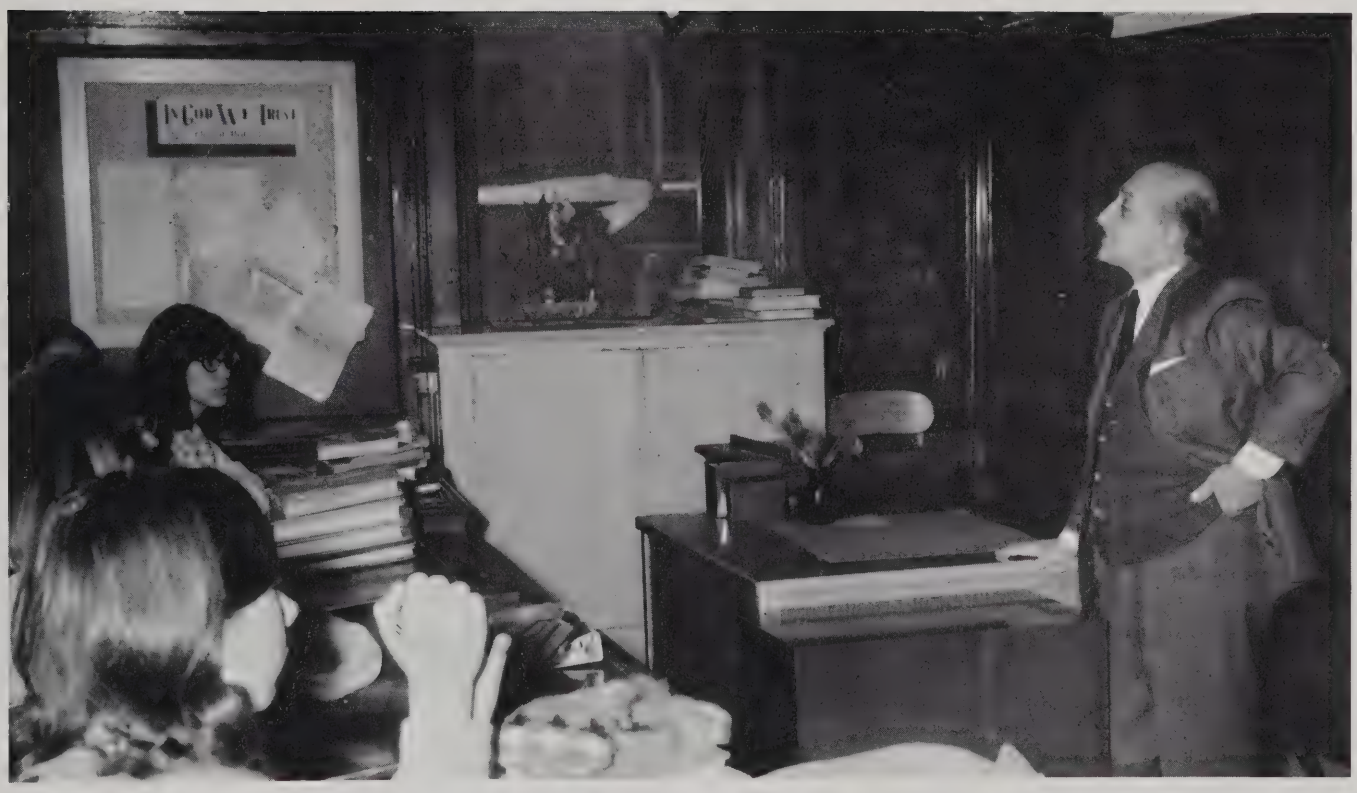

Also, each spring the Senate sends two delegates, along with two delegates from Pierides, to the American International Congress. This affair enables our delegates to have an insight into the manner in which Congress fuctions. The students debate a number of bills following the same procedure used in the national houses of Congress. During the two days of enthusiastic debate, A.I.C. undergraduates act as president pro tempore of the Senate, speaker of the House, and committee chairmen.

The program for the first day is the discussion of the bills, previously submitted by the various high schools, in committee sessions. The bills which have been reported favorably out of committee or with no recommendation, are then debated and voted upon during the second day by the delegates who have been named either senators or members of the house.

Adviser: Miss Christine Sauer
Meeting time and place: Every other Wednesday in 119
Officers: President—Karen Glazier
Vice-President—Maria Krokidas
Secretary—Mary Montori
Treasurer—Lillian Mann
Program Chairman—Sally Dolgin

In order to further interest in the arts and debating, Pierides, an active girls' literary group, carries on informal debates and has lectures on varied arts as well as on debating procedures. Pierides also sponsors speakers on the arts. This year, Miss Teresa Boylan, one of the school's English instructors, spoke about "European Arts and Crafts." At a later meeting, Miss Christine Sauer, another member of the English department and adviser to Pierides, spoke on "Painting with Wools." At the Christmas program, club members performed various skits. A girls' chorus of Pierides' members sang; Mary Ann Jennings read her comical take-off on "The Night Before Christmas"; and the Classical Dixieland Band played several numbers. Other activities included the opening tea for freshmen, the annual poetry and essay prize contest, and the sending of two representatives to the annual American International College Model Congress. Two trips to art museums and a film on modern art proved most enjoyable.

Mr. Ben Kalman, proprietor of Music in the Round, lectures to Pierides' members on "Modern Music." Mr. Kalman, one of Springfield's best piano teachers, also teaches music appreciation at college.

NATIONAL HONOR SOCIETY

Adviser: Dr. Edna Fredrick
Meeting Time and Place: Once a month, room 218
Officers: First Semester

Treasurer—Sandra Newman
Officers: Second Semester
President—Michael Solin
Vice-President—Cicily Corbett

Sandra Newman, Arthur Soter, Donna Regis, Donald Blair, and Cicily Corbett, officers for 1964 and 1965, examine the books previously given by the National Honor Society in honor of Paula Robbins and Douglas Clark form the class of '63 and Margaret Sheldon and John Lyons from the class of '64.

Promoting scholarship and honoring outstanding academic achievement have been two of the functions of the William C. Hill Chapter of the National Honor Society. During the year, three induction ceremonies were held, the first at the beginning of the year for seniors with 3.5 grade point average, the second after the third marking period for juniors with 3.75 grade point average, and the third at the end of the year for seniors with a 3.5 grade point average. The society also sponsored a book fair and a cookie sale to raise money to purchase for the school library books in honor of the highest ranking seniors.

The National Honor Society invited those students who had gone on to college from the previous graduating class to come to the annual Christmas Alumni Tea, at which time the seniors as well as the faculty members were able to ask questions concerning specific colleges and to learn the alumni's reaction to freshman life on campus.

encouragement of scholastic achievement among Classical students.

Donald McMahon, Bruce Solin, Adele Newman, Alan Schaluck, and Angelo Odato compete against nine other schools at the Ursuline Academy gymnasium-auditorium.

Spearheaded by the attack of Mr. George Andrewes (GA^2), the Classical Mathletes again are competing for top spot of the area's competing Mathletes. On the first Tuesday in every month from November to March the capable Mathletes meet at one of the area high schools to display their wits. At each meet five difficult questions with simple solutions (as Mr. Andrewes states) confront five of our ten Mathletes. Each team receives one point for every correct answer. At the conclusion of each meet, the officials announce first, second, and third place finishers. The highest scoring girl and boy from all the schools also receive prizes.

CHESS CLUB

Under the leadership of Mr. Laude, the Chess Club meets once a week in room 112 where members challenge each other at the game of wits and concentration. During the weekly meetings, learners are instructed in the fundamentals, while the more proficient practice for matches with other high schools. The five members who have won the most matches at club meetings, usually Matthew Aranow, the acknowledged president of the club, Michael Bogen, Richard Burns, Mark Freedman, and Edward Macierowski, play at a match. Some of the high schools the Chess Club played were Technical, whom they tied, and Chicopee Comprehensive.

This overhead shot shows the deep concentration needed for a game of chess. Matthew Aranow plots out his strategy while Richard Burns prepares to make a counter-attack. Who is winning?

The Chess Club are always on the qui vive.

Quiz master Phil Shepardson presents a question concerning the human skeleton to the Chicopee Comprehensive team. Our team members John McKelligott, Donald Blair, Sandra Newman, and Edward Macierowski seem confident that they will be able to answer the question if Chicopee Comprehensive fails.

AS SCHOOLS MATCH WITS

The Classical As Schools Match Wits team is chosen annually on the basis of a competitive examination administered by Dr. Fredrick in the early fall. In keeping with the record achieved by teams during the last two years, the As Schools Match Wits team won the first four matches of the television season in the fall of 1964. Hence they qualified for the final playoff in the spring of 1965 between other schools who have won four consecutive games. The 1964 team won in the finals, and all team members received prizes for their proficiency at "quick recall." The 1965 team, composed of seniors Sandra Newman, Donald Blair, a veteran from 1964, and John McKelligott, junior Edward Macierowski, and alternate Matthew Aranow, seems to be making the Classical championship an annual highlight of the school year.

During their third season on the Channel 22 television program As Schools Match Wits Classical team members John McKelligott, Donald Blair, Sandra Newman, and Edward Macierowski opposed the Chicopee Comprehensive High School team. Facing the monstrous television cameras and sweating under the glaring floodlights are some of the problems encountered by our team aside from the obvious one of "matching wits" with the opposing team.

The Future Nurses and the Future Teachers Clubs

The Future Nurses Club was formed to provide for students interested in the nursing profession. Busily planning a meeting to interest all members are Sheryn Petersen, treasurer, Carolyn Burrill, secretary, Judy Clayton, president, and Donna Howe, vice-president.

FUTURE NURSES CLUB

Adviser: Mrs. Margaret Ramos

Time and place of meeting: The third Monday of each month

Officers: President—Judy Clayton
Vice-President—Donna Howe
Secretary—Carolyn Burrill
Treasurer—Sheryn Petersen

By participating in this club for girls who are interested in nursing and active medical fields, these future nurses are enabled to share their interests and to explore career opportunities. Some of the activities of this year were films on the opportunities of a medical career in the Peace Corps, and a film concerning tuberculosis and cancer. One of the most enlightening events of the year was the panel on the Training Program for Professional Nursing. The girls also had guests who spoke to them about mental health and nursing in general. In order to see nurses actually at work, the club took field trips to Wesson and Monson State Hospitals. The Future Nurses culminated a successful year with the annual picnic.

Helping others is an important part of the Future Nurses Club program. Elaine Hagopian, Maureen Desrosiers, and Patricia Deyampert are constructing dolls, made from buttons and felt, for the children at Belchertown State Hospital.

Officers: President—Susan Packard
Vice-President—Mark Mackler
Secretary—Mary Ann Mekalian
Treasurer—Lorna Lesquier
Program Chairman—Donna Zucchi
Publicity Chairman—Dennis Guerri

In line with their purpose of acquainting students with the various fields of education and promoting a sincere interest and enthusiasm for the progression of teaching, the Future Teachers Club invites many interesting speakers. Scheduled lecturers this year included Miss Phyllis MacKay, a teacher at White Street School, who spoke on elementary education; Miss Rita O'Connell, a school adjustment counselor for Springfield; and Mr. Wilke, the language coordinator for the Springfield Public Schools.

Members have an opportunity also to view films about situations encountered in education. Club members have formed committees for the purpose of planning service projects for the welfare of Classical High School and also the city of Springfield.

CLASSICAL HIGH SCHOOL SCIENTIFIC ASSOCIATION

Adviser: Mr. Stanley Mulak
Time and place of meeting: Every Thursday in room 324
Officers: President—Dennis Murphy
Vice-President—Donald Blair
Secretary—Linda Gianassi
Treasurer—Kenneth Skala

The Scientific Association has chosen to explore relativity as its project for 1964-1965 as well as to inspire its members to pursue a career in one of the fields of science. Several members under the guidance of Mr. Mulak have made models and equipment needed by the teachers for classroom demonstrations. These models include an electric generator and an accurate six-foot diameter model of the moon. During the study of relativity, the major subject for concentration for the year, members have viewed films and heard lectures, one of which was given by Dr. James A. Coleman, professor at A. I. C. and author of Relativity for the Layman. In order to see some of these theories in practice, the club made field trips to Monsanto and the Springfield Armory. A few of the members also attended the Science Congress at Cathedral High School. The final activity of the science club was the annual picnic, when Mr. Mulak demonstrated the principle of the fire triangle (air, heat, and fuel) in the preparation of a delectable meal.

THE BIOLOGY CLUB

At the first meeting, the avid new members suggested activities for the year; then the officers with the help of Mr. O'Donnell tried to include as many as possible in their program. They viewed the films, Thread of Life and From Generation to Generation, during their study of heredity. They also visited the Science Museum to hear a lecture on reptiles and to see Sheba, the prize boa constrictor. Dr. Kalita, a local podiatrist, was invited to one of the meetings to give a talk on the structure and care of the foot. During a "bloody" lab session the members were able to test for their reaction to Rh factor serum in addition to finding out whether they were type A, B, AB, or O. Some members had an opportunity to work on special projects and either presented their findings to the rest of the club or posted them on the bulletin board outside 316. The highlight of the year was the tour through Massachusetts General Hospital where they were given an opportunity to witness open heart surgery.

Theresa Haskins, David Gorman, Malinda Smutek, Parry Gotsis, and Elaine Ciak, the officers of the Biology Club, are planning a lecture on the Circulatory System.

Taking care of the plants in the greenhouse is the job of Linda Mazur, Debbie BozBeckian, Malinda Smutek, Theresa Haskins, and Theresa Zyla.

INTERNATIONAL RELATIONS CLUB

Adviser: Mr. Milton Corbin
Meeting time and place: About twice a month in the auditorium; homeroom period Wednesday or Friday
Officers: President—Barbara Comeau
Vice-President—Marcia Soja
Recording Secretary—Marcia Soja
Corresponding Secretary—Terry Pevzner
Treasurer—Sheri Brown
Program Chairman—Loraine Goodman, Michele Schwartz

The major goal of this club is to increase the members' understanding of customs and situations around the world by listening to speakers who have visited foreign countries. One interesting speaker was Dr. Arsenian from Springfield College. He talked about and showed films pertaining to the University of the Seven Seas. These films showed how a university on a ship functioned and to what places it went. Another visitor was Reverend Mr. Hawkes, who showed slides of India dealing mostly with their native costumes. A recent speaker, Beiko Ishii, proved to be an excellent source of information on Japan. Miss Ishii also showed slides on her country and talked about the educational system of Japan. Also, this year, the members by an unanimous vote agreed to donate one hundred dollars from their treasury to Care.

Besides having speakers, one of the high points of the year is the awarding of scholarships. Each spring two deserving seniors who have been members of the International Relations Club for two years receive one hundred dollar scholarships. The scholarships were named the Erika Corbin Scholarship and the Harriet Marr Scholarship in honor of two former faculty members who gave dedicated service to Classical. Mr. Montagna awards these two scholarships to Joyce Frisby and Phyllis Judson.

the German Club focuses on Germany.

The highlight of the German Club presentation at the Christmas assembly was the German band. Playing a typical folk song are Paul Raverta, Stanley Piekos, and John Nadolski in authentic German Lederhosen and Judith Glazer and Ruth Stroshine.

Singing Die Tannenbaum, a specially written version of Die Schnitzelbank, students Paul Magnani, Jeffrey Lite, Christine Szczepanek and Leona Stricker use pictures to illustrate their song in the Christmas assembly.

In order to enrich the German student's knowledge of the customs, history, and language of German speaking countries, the German Club provides many interesting movies and speakers. Among the movies presented were two travelogues of Americans visiting Germany and Austria. One of the most interesting speakers of the year was Dr. Werner Haas, a professor of German from the University of Massachusetts who spoke on post-war Germany. The German Club also enjoyed singing folk songs and Christmas carols auf deutsch. The high-point of the year was the participation with the other language clubs in the Christmas Assembly. The members had much fun forming a German band and chorus and practicing for the assembly.

To promote interest in the French language and culture, members of the French Club paid special attention to French holidays this year. One delightful meeting featured hats made by club members celebrating St. Catherine's Day. According to custom, this holiday is celebrated by single girls, twenty-five or older, in search of a husband. These French girls don hats and parade around the city in hope that St. Catherine will bestow her graces upon them. After the girls had finished making their hats, a contest was held among them.

SPANISH CLUB

Adviser: Mrs. Martha Cobb
Time and place of meeting: Fourth Monday of each month in Room 241
Officers: President—Marilyn Philbrick
Vice-President—Robert Potter
Secretary—Gail Pederzoli
Treasurer—Ivey Cooley

Because of the many activities of the Spanish Club, it is not difficult to see why students taking an interest in the language and customs of Spanish-speaking countries devote so much of their time and effort to it. Once a month the club has speakers relate highlights of their trips to Spanish-speaking countries. Other programs include discussions on Spanish poetry and the less strenous pastime of listening to Spanish music. In this year's Christmas assembly, the Spanish club gave a presentation of a Nativity scene from a painting by El Greco. The club plans to conclude this year with a trip to the World's Fair. There, the members hope to tour the Spanish Pavilion, dine in the Spanish restaurant, and view a performance of flamenco dancers.

At the annual Christmas Assembly Spanish Club members Peter Carellas, John McCarthy, Sheryn Petersen, Karen Erlich, Gail Newsome, Malinda Smutek, and Glenn Nicholson recreate El Greco's "Adoration of the Shepherds."

LATIN CLUB

Adviser: Mr. James Fleming
Time and place of meeting: Room 223, on the first and third Monday of each month
Officers: President—Donna Hurwitz
Vice-President—Priscilla Fairbanks
Secretary-Treasurer—Andrea Berry

To promote a greater appreciation of Latin language and culture, the Latin Club planned many interesting meetings. Selected members of the club presented talks on different aspects of Roman life. One of these meetings was devoted to a study of Roman courts, and another featured a discussion of Roman poets. Once the club held a discussion on the religion of the ancient Latins. The major activity of the club was the presentation of a Patriots' Day Assembly with the German Club.

P.T.S.A. Representative—Marjorie Gross

The Hebrew Club acquaints the members with life and culture of modern and ancient Israel through programs of discussions, films, plays, and festival celebrations. One of the festivals the Hebrew Club celebrated this year was Hanukkah, or the Festival of lights. This eight-day holiday commemorates the rededication of the altar after the purification of the temple of Jerusalem which had been polluted by the Greeks. One of the games most often played at this time is "Dreydel." The dreydel is an object spun in a game of chance. Besides playing games, the club members had refreshments and did some of the traditional dances. Indubitably, everyone had a good time!

Marjorie Gross, Shoshana Bacon, Doris Erlich, Carol Goldberg, and Judy Saykin are performing a Hebrew dance "Hineh Ma Tov" symbolizing "How good and pleasant it is when people dwell together as brothers."

Bulldog's undefeated record

In a contest against Holyoke Catholic, fleet-footed halfback Ron Tucker breaks for a substantial gain and a welcome first down for Classical.

Truly the greatest season Classical High has ever enjoyed, the fall of 1964 was filled with excitement and victory for our relentless football team. Enthusiastic crowds turned out at every game to cheer Classical on, and the gridsters didn't disappoint them all year. Every game was a showdown for the Bulldogs, and every game was Classical's in the end. The energetic Classical Cheerleaders did a fantastic job, and the only lull in the crowd was during the national anthem.

Starting with a familiar "Are you ready?", the sportive Classical cheerleaders of '64-'65 have furthered school spirit throughout the year. Under the leadership of Captain Susan Nothacker, they practice long and hard to perfect routines and to prepare skits for pep rallies, and they become a vital unit at the games, cheering the teams on to victory and sparking the Classical rooters.

Members of the '64-'65 squad are Mignonne Megas, Marilee Marchese, Constance Marsden, Donna Zucchi, Kathy McQuade, Captain Susan Nothacker, Christine Quigley, Barbara Raschi, Pam Hamilton, Co-Captain Heddy Lissberger, Susan Mador, and Madalyn Blake.

The 1964 Classical Football Team rose to supremacy this year with an undefeated and untied record. The Bulldogs won all seven of their games to complete the best season in Classical's history and the first undefeated season in forty-four years. Classical gained much satisfaction out of beating arch-rival Longmeadow but the thriller of the year was the last game, against a tough Ludlow team, first in their league. Classical won this one on touchdowns by Ed Sheehan, Bob Lagasse, and Phil Ward to complete their amazing season. Bob Lagasse was the hero in this one when he came up with a clutch interception and an eighty-yard sprint to pay dirt.

The fall of 1965 also afforded Classical High an excellent season on the soccer field. The varsity team, with a city record of 7-1 and an overall record of 9-2, once again became City Champions and earned a booth in the Western Mass. Tournament. The highlights of the season were undoubtedly the Bulldogs' two defeats over Tech High. Both these games were tense and exciting from the moment the clock started to the sound of the gun. The two Classical-Longmeadow games are also worth mentioning. Longmeadow managed to beat the Bulldogs early in the season by a score of 1 to 0, but Classical avenged the loss later in the season by defeating the Lancers, 3 to 2.

Classical is especially proud of Goalie Ted Fantl, a converted linesman (left), who was the ALL-CITY choice. Ted did an outstanding job, allowing only four goals to dent the Bulldog nets in city competition. Other ALL-CITY choices were Danny Gaudreau, center forward; Larry Kelly, wing; and Jeff Munsell, fullback. Both Larry and Jeff were ALL-CITY men last year. Jeff, this year's captain, was also an All-Western Mass. Choice.

"Best Five in City."

The Classical hoopsters faced some of the strongest competition in the history of the city league in '64-'65, but managed to play consistently good basketball and tie with Tech for a second place behind Cathedral. Co-captains Butch Moreland, with one of the best shots in the city and 17.5 average to prove it, and Bob Rutherford, the flashy Bulldog playmaker with a 15.2 average, were both All-City choices. Mike Geary, a relentless guard, Steve Johnson, who jumped center, Phil Ward, the Classical strength under the boards, and Gary MacDonald, number one substitute, made up the rest of the Classical courtmen.

Classical started the season off poorly, dropping the first two games. Then the Bulldogs began their victory drive, winning six in a row. Two of those six victories were over Chicopee Comprehensive and Ludlow, both undefeated teams until they met Classical. The Bulldogs met Tech next and lost a real heart-breaker, 65-63 in double-overtime. Seemingly unaffected by the loss, Classical continued to win. Commerce and Lee fell at the hands of the Bulldogs, and then they met Cathedral once again. According to Coach Phil Hart, this was the "best game either club played all year," but Classical came out on the losing end of a deceiving score, 81-75. From here on Classical went all the way, winning all of their remaining six games. The Bulldogs avenged their early loss to Tech by defeating the Tigers 56-47, and finished the season with a city record of 5-3, and overall record of 14-4.

Versatile Butch Moreland grapples with Cathedral foe for the rebound.

Mermen break all records.

The Classical Swimming Team did another fine job in '65. The mermen placed first in the city, second in Pioneer Valley, and second in Western Mass. competition. Although the team was well-balanced, a few individuals stood out. Captain Bill Bridgman made his usual fine showing, capturing a first place in Western Mass. and State competition in the 200-yard freestyle, as well as a second place in both in the 400-yard freestyle event. Ted LaRochelle placed second in Western Mass. in the 100-yard butterfly event, and Jeff Swan won a third place in the 100-yard backstroke.

Bulldog Bowlers strike again.

It did not look good for the 1965 bowling team at the start of the season. Only one member of last year's varsity squad returned, Senior Eddie Gray (left). But Captain Gray, a three-year varsity bowler rolling a 103 average, along with two juniors, Don Holland and Richard Corbert, and two freshmen, Larry Smolarz and Arnold Greenhut, formed a team that bowled consistently well. These five Bulldogs placed second, behind Commerce, in the first round championship run.

Coach Jermakian pointed out Classical's 561 high single string total and 1572 high three string total as admirable accomplishments of this year's team, and sees good prospects for '66 with four varsity bowlers returning.

Classical puckmen

A frequent scene at the Coliseum this year was center Eddie Sheehan on a breakaway such as this. Much of the success of the Bulldogs this year was due to their ability to break up plays, make their passes good, and stick handle.

For the second consecutive year, Coach Spolzino and the Classical Hockey Team enjoyed an amazingly successful season and captured the Wright Division title. After the first round of play, Classical remained the only undefeated team in the circuit, and they finished the season with the best record of any school, 15-2-1. In divisional play, the Bulldogs won 6 and lost 2, while in interdivisional play, they won 9, lost none, and tied 1, handling both Tech and Chicopee with ease. Because they won the Wright Division title, Classical automatically earned a berth in the Western Mass. Tournament.

Bobby Findlater, for the second time in as many years, walked away with the scoring title, with 32 goals and 29 assists for a total of 61 points. Two other Classical linesmen ranked among the top ten scorers in their division. Ed Sheehan, center on the crack first line, had 16 goals and 31 assists for a total of 47 points to place second, and Danny Gaudreau bagged 17 goals and 20 assists for 37 points. These three puckmen made up the Bulldog's first line and accounted for 65 tallies out of the amazing 102-goal output for Classical in '65. Two Classical defensemen, Jeff Munsell with 25 points, and Paul Hamel with 20, ranked seventh and ninth respectively in scoring this year.

Two-year Wright Division scoring champ, Bobby Findlater, proved himself to a powerful and relentless puckster.

Wrestlers maneuver for pins.

Matman George Vassos maneuvers for a pin on his Trade opponent as the referee gets set to call the action.

The Classical wrestling team was short of experience this season, with only two seniors turning out for the team. This was a great disappointment to Coach Gallant who was looking forward to a very good season.

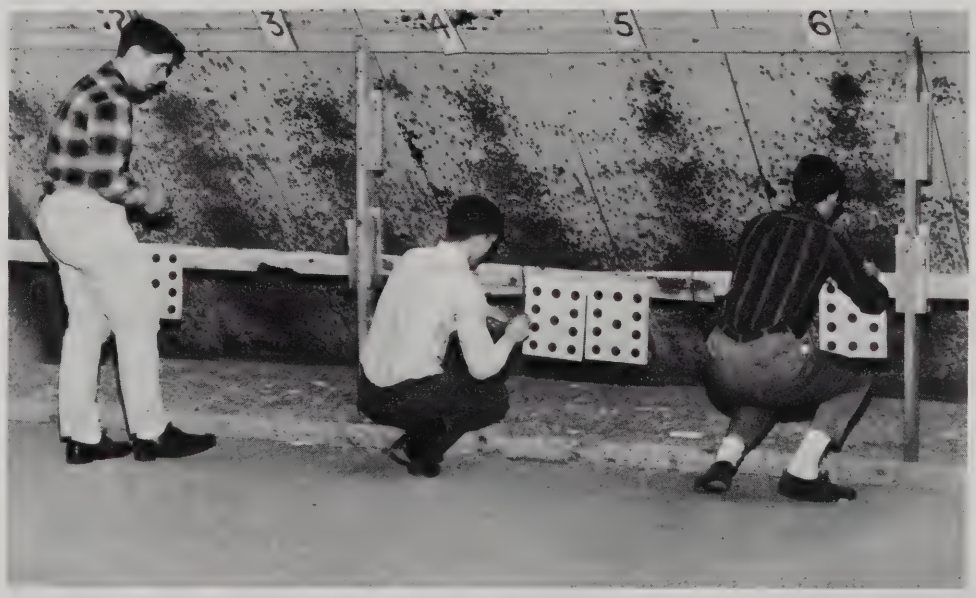

Since the team was inexperienced, they failed to place in competition. However, matmen like Jay Talbot, Richard Martin, and Timothy Lee showed great potential and looked for positions in the semi-finals in the Western Massachusetts Tournament. One freshman, Tom Andrewes, went on to the finals.

Riflers set their aims on targets.

Sighting in on targets while Coach Wessman looks on are members of Classical's Varsity Rifle Team: Bruce Brodeur, Daniel Wessman, and George La Joie.

Classical's Rifle Team did not fair as well as it should have in the meets againt Tech and Longmeadow. Still, they proved to be dominant over the Trade team by winning all three matches. Three seniors who kept their averages by shooting in the high nineties during every meet were Captain Bill Neigher, Mike Solin, and Kent Servis. Juniors, Bruce Brodeaur and George LaJoie shot well also during the season by hitting scores in the high eighties on the varsity club.

After firing a round during a meet, George La Joie, Daniel Wessman, and Bruce Brodeur check their targets to determine the total points scored by the team.

Trackmen shorten stride to victory.

Bob Peck, a versatile and undaunting trackster, swings up and over the bar in the difficult pole-vaulting event.

Despite a disappointing season in actual track competition, Classical did have two standouts on the team worthy of special recognition. Senior Captain Bill Zanolli had a season total of 92 points and placed first in the broad jump event in Western Massachusetts competition. Bill won that event with a terrific jump of 20 feet, 9 inches. Junior Bill Bridgman, an excellent prospect for 1965, has a season total of 68 points to place second on the 1964 squad.

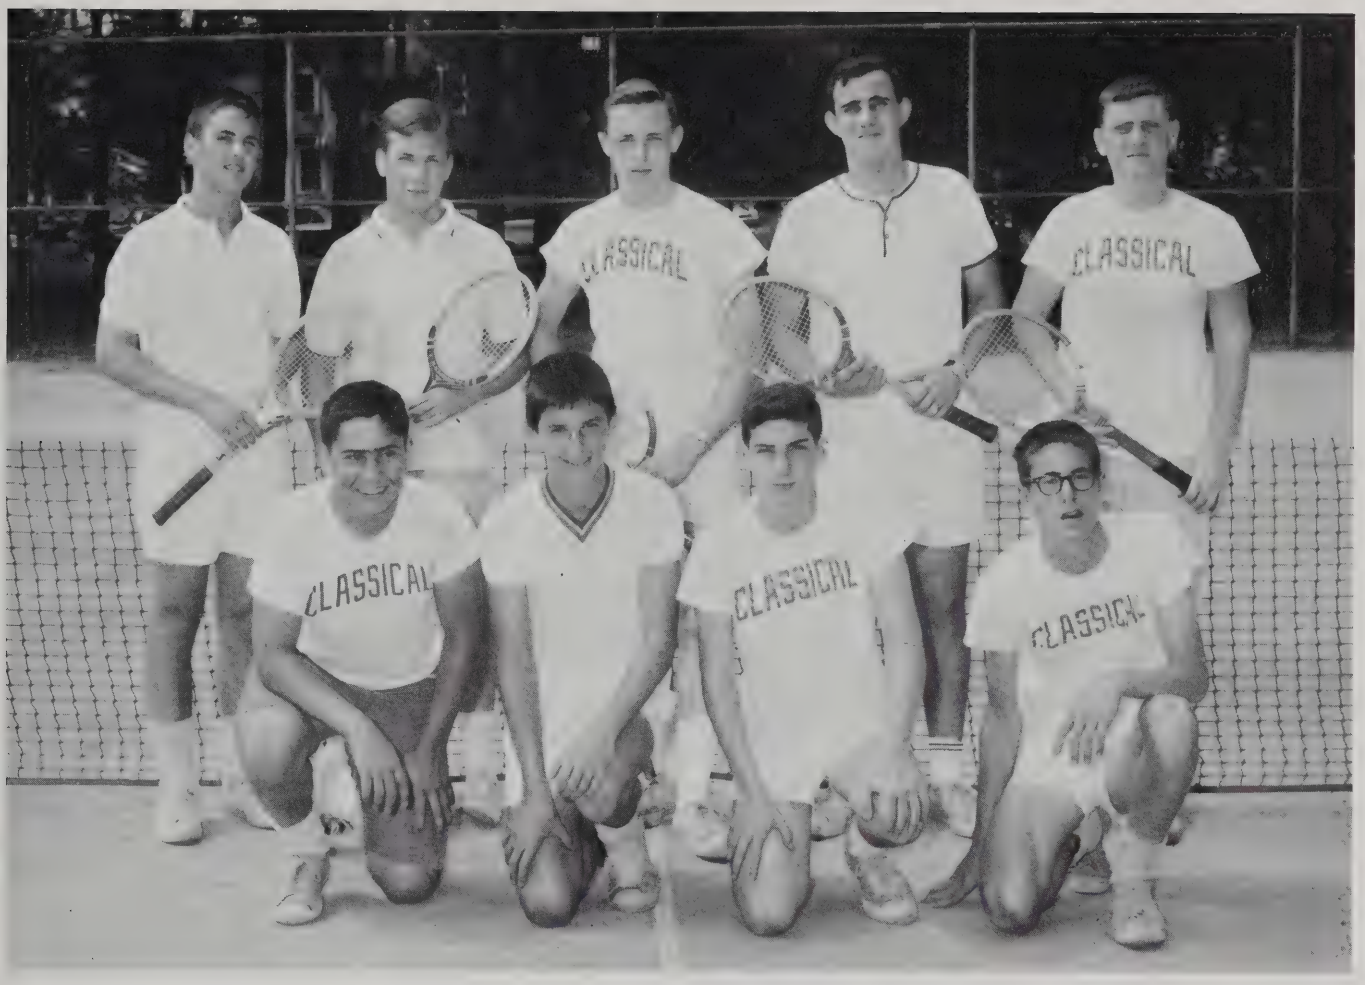

Three-year trackman Jim Sadler heaves the javelin in one of his favorite events.

In "ready" position for the 100-yard dash are Maurice Nichols, Richard Burns, Bennie Chappell, Burt Skvirsky, Marvin Deyampert, Howie Ricklas, John Nadolski, and Mark Kelberman.

Classical Courtmen again Reign Supreme.

Members of the 1964 tennis team are (front) Norman Roos, Michael Hechler, Matt Aranow, Mark Freedman, (back) Clarence Bennett, Gene Fantl, Roger Brainerd, Mark Kahan, and Barry Izenstein.

After an initial loss to a strong Longmeadow team, the Classical tennis squad, as in the past, went on to reap the benefits of a successful season. Senior Captain Clarence Bennett, backed by juniors Gene Fantl and Norman Roos, took the loss in stride and then proceeded to go undefeated, later avenging that first defeat by downing the Lancers in the last match of the season, 5-4. Classical again captured the city title and finished with an impressive 9-1 overall record.

Cathedral, boasting two state champions, went down at the hands of the Bulldogs twice, as did Tech and Chicopee. With the return of three varsity juniors, Norman Roos and Captain Gene Fantl, heading the 1965 Courtmen, Classical will surely do as admirable a job.

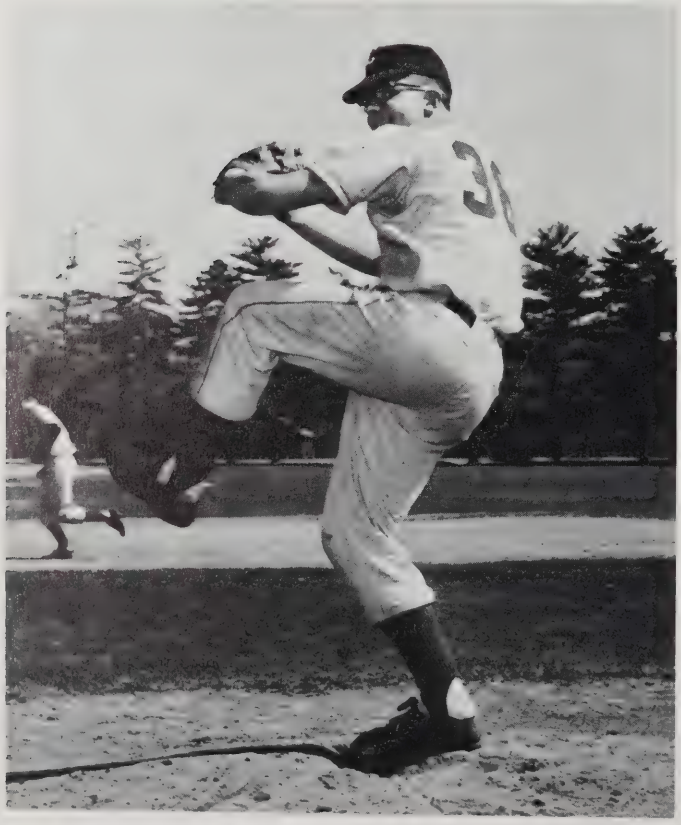

Mike Hechler, one of three varsity juniors, shows his form on the court at Forest Park, and Ted Fantl watches the singles match.

Classical Batmen.

The Bulldogs in '64 had an extremely fine season in city competition with the coaching of Mr. Young. They fought their way up to second place in city action, but suffered many defeats in the Independent games. In the city action, they lost their first game to Tech, being nudged out 5-4. The Classical team wasn't going to be scared off by one defeat. They sprang back to win over Trade, by an 8-3 score. The next in line for the Bulldogs was last year's city champs, Cathedral. The Bulldogs, undaunted by Cathedral's previous accomplishments, went on to shut them out, 4-0 with a fine pitching performance of George Hanst. Although the Classical team was sparked by the win over Cathedral, the under-estimated Commerce team came through to defeat the Bulldogs by a score of 2-1. When the Classical nine came up against Cathedral for the second time, the Panthers were determined to take this game. The Bulldogs resented their threat and with all-city choice John McCarthy on the mound, these strong Bulldogs showed that they would not surrender to Cathedral, and went on to win again, 8-3.

During the year, the Classical team was spurred on by the outstanding hitters of the year such as Danny Morgeson, who was hitting over .500 during the first part of the season, John Topodas, and Skip Houghton. Among the outstanding varsity players returning are Bob Findlater, Bob Rutherford, Phil Ward, Paul Fenton, and Jeff Munsell.

Pitcher George Hanst who defeated Cathedral, Trade, and Commerce, shows his form as he winds up.

Often a pitcher will find himself in a tense situation, and, when he does, a play such as this is a welcome relief. Only one out and a man on third as first-baseman Jon Topodas (above) scoops up a hard-hit grounder and tags first, forcing the out. Almost instantly, he fires the ball home to catcher Danny Morgeson (left) who makes the tag on the man from third, completing the double-play and preventing the score. Classical's Tim Meany comes to bat with Buzzy Doten on deck in this practice scrimmage.

Classical crew benefits by bananas.

Members of the 1964 crew team, in position in their new shell on the Connecticut River, are oxswain David Ronaldson, Stroke Kenneth Nicholson, Bruce Meisner, Jerry Kahn, Steve Goldstein, Steve Pippin, Douglas Fauntleroy, Tex Harris, and Glen Nicholson.

Behind by about three and a half lengths, but coming on strong are Coxswain Gary Stein, Stroke Alex McCarthy, Richard Fagin, Robert Frater, Paul Raverta, Bill Elliot, Richard Corbert, Harvey Skerker, and Arnie Goldstein. This is the annual Banana Race.

Due to a poor turnout, the crew team did not fare very well in 1964. In actual competition, the rowers failed to win a race, but the boys all enjoyed themselves, as always, on the waters of the Connecticut River. This year the boys launched a brand-new shell, but it has yet to cross the finish line as a winner. An event looked forward to all season is the annual Banana Race. In this race, the varsity and junior varsity teams are mixed, and then two teams are chosen arbitrarily to compete against each other. The winning crew receives the grand prize of a stock of fresh bananas, presented by Coach Otto Wulff himself. This is one race that Classical did win!

Bulldogs decide to go cross country.

Cross country is the newest addition to the athletic offerings of Classical High. Because it was the first year for the Bulldogs, their record was not impressive, but much hard work had to be done in simply forming the squad. In competition, the boys run distances from 2½ to 3 miles, usually on dirt roads. Coach Gallant requires that each man run 2½ miles every day. He is looking forward to next year when all but two of his runners will return. The scoring in the meets is determined by the point totals of each man on the team. The first man across the line is awarded one point; the second, two; and so on. The squad with the least amount of points is then the winner. This sport is entirely dependent upon team effort, and not individual achievement.

Coach Gallant praised Senior Peter Nye, who placed first in nearly every meet, as his outstanding sprinter.

G.A.A. and the student leaders

The officers of the G.A.A. are planning activities for the winter season: Hollie Clement, junior representative; Terri Haskins, vice-president; Charlotte Heflin, freshman representative; Barbara Hitchcock, secretary; Beverly Bridgman, freshman representative; Judy Rochford, ½ year president; and Dell Mullens, ½ year president.

GIRLS' ATHLETIC ASSOCIATION

This year the Girls' Athletic Association has done much to encourage the girls to develop their muscles, sportsmanship, and special skills. The G.A.A. council made up of Beverly Bridgman, Hollie Clement, Theresa Haskins, Charlotte Heflin, Barbara Hitchcock, Dell Mullens, and Judy Rochford with the assistance of Mrs. Desrochers and Miss Mistark, arranged for hockey and basketball games with the other high schools. Girls who had special ability in broad jumping, softball throwing, high jumping, and running also competed in the annual high school track meet at Blunt Park.

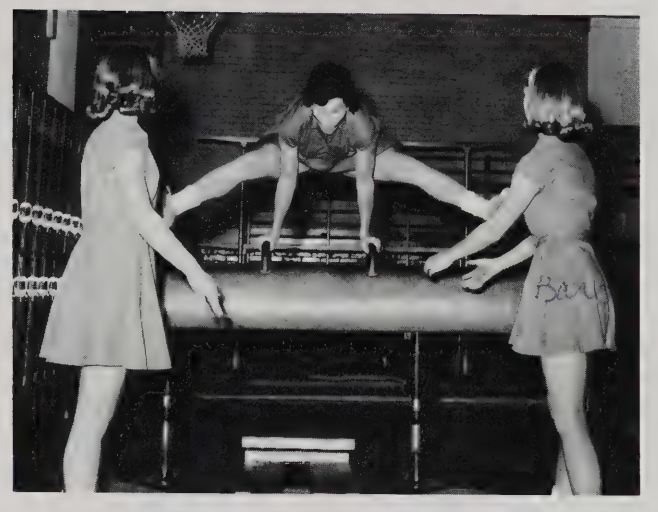

By participating in ten after school athletic sessions, a girl became a member of the G.A.A. and received her blue membership badge to sew on her gym suit. She was now able to enjoy voting in G.A.A. elections, selling candy bars to raise money for needed equipment, going to the annual picnic, and working for more honors. If a girl attended 25 sessions during her freshman year, she received a big letter "C"; 25 sessions in her junior year, a numeral; and 25 sessions in her senior year, a silver and blue G.A.A. pin.

As the seasons changed so did the sports. In the fall, when the weather was still pleasant, the girls played field hockey at North Branch Elementary. During the longer winter season, the girls enjoyed alternate sessions of basketball, volleyball, swimming, and apparatus. When spring came, they were out of doors again improving their softball, track, and tennis skills.

STUDENT LEADERS

In every gym class, there are girls with blue and white triangular badges on their suit pockets either leading exercises, helping other girls to improve skills, or officiating at games. Several student leaders are needed in each class because of the large number of girls. At the end of the year, the gym teachers choose junior girls who show an interest in physical education, leadership ability, and an average amount of athletic skill to replace the graduating student leaders. The new leaders receive instructions on the demonstration of skills and techniques and the assistance of those who are having trouble doing these things. They also use the time before classes to practice with each other. Each girl who has the opportunity to be a student leader gains valuable experience in working with others as well as personal satisfaction from being able to encourage fellow students to attempt new skills and improve familiar ones.

The ever-helpful student leaders for 1964-65 are (Row 1) Penny Hollis, Dorene Waltein, Janet Preston, Donna Howe, Linda Parrow, and Virginia Blair; (Row 2) Linda Stefano, Judy Rochford, Cynthia Greenberg, Irene Mastroyin, Cheryl Gallant, and Sally Dolgin; (Row 3) Maryann Jennings, Linda Mazur, Adele Newman, Ruth Thibault, Donna Hutcheons, Ellen Wolpert, Joe-Ann Dearing, and Pat Palazzo.

Barbara Hitchcock demonstrates the swinging dismount on the even parallel bars.

APPARATUS

After exercising a few weeks to get each muscle in tone and to increase agility, the girls had six weeks of training on the various apparatus. First, they learned the basic approach, mount, and dismount for each piece of apparatus. Then they separated into small groups according to their ability and interest so that each girl could advance at her own pace. Soon girls were having fun doing the different vaults over the horse, Swedish box, and buck, swinging on the parallel bars and rings, and climbing the ropes to the rafters. Those who wanted either an opportunity to do more advanced work or more time to perfect basic skills came to the gym on the scheduled afternoon to receive special instruction from the teachers. Although the girls had aching arms and legs at the end of the course in apparatus, they knew that they had become more physically fit.

TRACK

There was a track meet for girls at Blunt Park on Monday, May 25, 1964. From the four public high schools, the girls with special ability in jumping, ball throwing, and running were allowed to compete with one another for ribbons. This meet permitted them not only to demonstrate their skills but also to show their sportsmanship. After the winners were chosen, the points for each school were tallied to give these team results:

Commerce First Place
Classical Second Place
Technical Third Place
Trade Fourth Place

The results of the events which gave Classical the points needed to place second were these:

1st Place — Shuttle Relay — Terrill Burnett, Kristine Callahan, Linda Malconian, Dell Mullens

1st Place — Running Broad Jump — Terrill Burnett

2nd Place — 75 Yard Dash — Dell Mullins

2nd Place — Softball Throw — Linda Taliaferro

3rd Place — High Jump — Barbara Hitchcock

Judy Rochford quickly hands the shuttle stick to Sharyn Thomas in the relay race.

to work together as a team.

Judy Rochford, Carolyn Whiting and Madeleine Ingram wait for the return from the Tech player.

FIELD HOCKEY

The first after school activity for girls during the fall season was field hockey. Our girls from Classical, along with other girls from Commerce and Technical, went once a week by bus to North Branch Elementary School. Here, on the big field adjacent to the school, they developed their skills in swinging the hockey stick, dribbling, and controlling the ball. They also demonstrated their ability to work together as a team. Moreover, they had the chance to make new friends and learn about the athletic activities in the other high schools. For attending an after school session of field hockey, each girl received one G.A.A. credit.

Alice Chesler and Judy Rochford try to keep the ball from two Tech players as Carolyn Whiting waits hopefully.

On the Field Hockey Team this year are (Row 1) Elizabeth Tsairdis, Terri Haskins, Sue Thom, Judy Rochford and Judy Nicoll, (Row 2) Carolyn Whiting, Alice Chesler, Sheila Bewsee, Miss Mistark (the coach), Madelein Ingram and Carol Anderson.

Judy Rochford, Elizabeth Tsouridis, Sheila Bewsee, Judy Nicoll, and Carol Whiting wait anxiously to see whether Barbara Hitchcock makes a basket.

BASKETBALL

Another favorite winter sport has been basketball. Girls met twice a week in the gym to practice dribbling, passing, shooting for the basket, and teamwork. After a few weeks of preparation, they formed teams to play against girls from Commerce and Technical High Schools. Before each game, the girls had a practice session during which they worked out new plays with the assistance of Mrs. Desrochers and Miss Mistark. Even though their winning record was not outstanding, they had fun, made friends, perfected skills, and earned G.A.A. credits. As one of the girls on the team said: "Although we've never won a game, we always go down fighting."

Girls release their emotions

Donna Hill and Linda Dolvin do this pose at the end of the dance which they created.

PEP CLUB

The cheerleaders, who wanted assistance in promoting the school spirit at the games and at the pep rallies, organized the Pep Club. Any girl who liked to cheer was eligible to join. On Wednesday afternoons, the girls attended practice sessions during which the cheerleaders taught them the cheers most often used. Indeed the Pep Club proved to be very successful.

MODERN DANCE

One of the most enjoyable sessions in the physical education program has been modern dancing. The girls learned to interpret music and express their emotions by combining various body movements. In each gym class, the girls divided themselves into groups, chose a record, and composed a dance. A few of the girls who showed a special interest in modern dance, under the guidance of Mrs. Desrochers, worked on dances which were later performed in Carousel, the annual variety show.

Before you accept that first job . . .

Look over your employer as carefully as he does you

What's the Company like anyway? Would I be proud to work there? Reputation for square dealing with employees? Pleasant surroundings?

Will I be working with others my own age? Are they friendly? Do they socialize after hours?

Will the boss be reasonable? Appreciate good, hard work, but won't explode if I make a mistake?

Will I make a decent week's pay? Have a chance for raises, advancement, more responsibility? How about fringe benefits?

Is the work challenging? I had what it takes to get through high school. Will they give me a chance to use my brains?

Note: Many young men and women in this area can answer "Yes" to these questions. They work for New England Telephone Company . . . New England's largest employer.

Why not talk with our employment interviewer soon . . . before you graduate? Ask your Guidance Counselor to tell you when and where to apply.

Lucy

Please forgive me for being so informal but I feel more like writing you a real letter than a formal one. Thank you so much for the flowers. I love them. Please let me see you dance the Charleston for me sometime.

Yours as ever,
Janet
X ® X (better than ever)

Judith,
I don't know why
I should write to you,
~~ya cuz~~. I'll only be in your homeroom for the next 30 years. Come back again when we're seniors.

Francesca Montori

To S-Sister,
I'll always love
you with that S-Sisterly
Love.

Love,
Your S-Sister, Katie

Judy,
You and I both have suffered under the same prisons-
English + Latin. Enjoy your summer - good luck getting a job. See you next fall.
Your friend,
Linda D.

Judy

It was a pleasure
to be in the same
homeroom with you
Love ya
Freddie O.
